Coolidge May Favor Plan to Permit Private Companies to Use Power

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1927 by The Pub. Co.
Washington—President Coolidge hopes that some kind of legislation to construct Boulder dam will be passed at this session of congress but this does not mean that he favors the Spring-Johnson bill or that he thinks it necessary for the government to go into the electric power business.
The president feels that the dam should be erected so as to stop floods and aid in irrigation and supply water to southern California. The power phases of the matter are, however, a complex problem, on which the president's position has not deviated from that which he has expressed in his several messages to congress.

The status of the Boulder dam bill is that the rules committee has not yet furnished a rule whereby consideration shall be given to it. The committee meets Thursday. Even if the bill should pass the house of representatives, men like Senator Arthur Cotton, predict that it never would get through the senate because of the complexity of the problem and the many conflicting interests which it involves.

QUESTION OF FLOODS
The greatest question is whether the element of the supplying of water to southern California, can be divorced from the broad principle of government ownership which relates to the use of the water power for the generation of electricity. The advocates of private ownership show every inclination to fight this bill on the ground that it means more government entry into private business. On this point the sympathies of President Coolidge are with the private ownership school. He did not favor government ownership of power and he has consistently advocated that the government get out of the shipping business. If, however, the dam is constructed, then it is not unlikely that the president would favor some use being made of it proper and it is possible that he would favor any plan which would permit private companies to make arrangements for the use of power.

Should the bill reach the senate
it is expected that an effort will be made to attach amendments which would insure government separation from the power business, though men like Senator Norris of Nebraska would under the circumstances favor government operation.

STILLMAN GIVES WIFE
$500,000 NECKLACE

New York—(AP)—James A. Stillman, as a tender expression of his reawakened love for his wife and their reconciliation, has presented Mrs. Stillman with a necklace worth in excess of $500,000 says Thursday's New York
American in a copyrighted story.

The gift was revealed, the story says, by James (Bud) Stillman, a senior at Princeton, who estimated its value at more than half a million dollars.

Bud also revealed that his marriage to Lena Viola Wilson, backwoods Canadian girl would take place June 29 at LaToque, Quebec, near the Stillman hunting lodge where the couple first met.

Return States' Rightful
Powers, Is Reed's DemandEVEN CATS SCAMPER AT ADVANCE OF MICE
ARMY IN CALIFORNIA

Bakersfield, Calif.—(AP)—The cats of Kern-co's lowland area are having experiences which rarely or never come into the feline existence. They are treating in fear and confusion before the tumbling herds of mice which have infested an area of 96 square miles around Taft, Maricopa, Fellows and Ford City.

Mercede has thrown a small army of cats from its city pound into the area to reinforce the local cats. The invading hordes were reported diminished Thursday, but not from the efforts of the cats. Poisoned grain sprinkled in newly plowed furrows across the path of the rodent migration is killing them by tens of thousands.

"The cats run away when they see a drove of mice coming," said J. C. Whitmore, resident of the infested valley. "The cats also refuse to eat them. The tabbies seem to be nauseated at the sight of a mouse."

PLAN BOARD IS OVERRULED
BY COUNCILAldermen Reject Commission's Recommendation on New Business Districts

Following a short and sharp discussion the common council at the meeting Wednesday night ignored the recommendation of the city plan commission against placing the southwest corner of Cherry and Summer-sts and the northwest corner of Wisconsin-ave and Alvin-st in local business districts.

Two ordinances placing these two corners in business districts were ordered published. The ordinances must be published for four successive weeks, and must be adopted by the council by a two-thirds vote.

Alderman Charles Thompson opposed the ordinances because he believed that the plan commission was justified in its stand. "I do not see the wisdom of placing one corner of a street intersection in a business district at the expense of the other four,"
he said.

"Furthermore, it is against the policy of the zoning ordinance to make such a move," Mr. Thompson declared. "I think we should take no action in this matter until the other three corners of these two streets have been placed and we can intelligently make some disposition of the case."

OWNER CORNERS FIRST
"It may be 10 years before the other corners of this intersection are placed and why should we refuse to allow this petitioner to establish the building he wishes to?" Alderman Mc Gillan said in defending the resolution.
It was adopted by a vote of 9 to 2 with Aldermen Thompson and Earle voting against it. Alderman Mark Catlin was not present at the meeting.

A sharper skirmish ensued when the resolution on the ordinance establishing a local business district at the corner of Wisconsin-ave and Alvin-st was introduced.

Alderman Wiese stated that for some time the corner had been an eyesore to the neighborhood because of the junk that was piled there. He stated that the owner had promised to clean out the property before spring and erect a small store if the corner was placed in a local business district.
The resolution was opposed by some of the aldermen.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 6 to 5. Aldermen Thompson, Callahan, Earle, Richard and Smith opposed its passage.

Because of the fight which was caused by the resolutions it is expected that a sharp fight will result when the ordinance is brought to the council in four weeks.

MAN DIES AFTER LEAP FROM HIGH VIADUCT

Milwaukee—(AP)—John Martin who came to Milwaukee a few days ago from Princeton, Ind. died Wednesday night from injuries suffered when he leaped 60 feet from a viaduct over the Milwaukee river. Martin, whose body was badly crushed when he landed on a pavement below, regained consciousness a few moments before he died, and explained that he intended to leap from the viaduct into the river, but miscalculated the distance.

New York—(AP)—The return to the states of their natural and just authority so as to bring the federal government "back to its original simplicity" is urged by senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri.

The senator in an address
Wednesday night before the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers association, asserted the maxim "that people is governed best which is governed least" had been buried under a mass of statutes which seek "to control, regulate or coerce almost every activity of man."

"To enforce these innumerable laws, regulations and codes," he said, "a horde of officials, tax-gatherers, snoopers and spies swarm over the land like the lice of Egypt devouring the substance of the people; prying into their private affairs, regulating their trade and business and then possessing their supply of alcohol."

What wonder that the average man has come to regard the law as a sword of oppression rather than a shield of protection."

The senator was hailed as a prospective president by John C.
McKeon, Philadelphia, president of the Boot and Shoe Manufacturers association.

TESTIFY ON VALUE
OF FORD CO. STOCKJewett Says Manufacturer Made Masterstroke in Buying Minority Shares

Detroit—(AP)—Henry Ford told of having made the master stroke of his career when he bought out minority stockholders of the Ford Motor Co. in 1919, according to Harry M. Jewett, former president of the Paige-Detroit Motor Co.

Testifying in the government tax case Wednesday, Jewett declared that Ford paid for the stock on the basis of $12,500 a share. The total approximate value of the company at that time would have approximated only $250,000,000. Terming such a valuation laughable, the witness said he had placed a valuation of 750,000,000 on the company in 1920, or approximately $88,000 a share.

Jewett testified the original valuation set on the stock as of 1913 was not too high, and estimated its worth at that time at $12,000 a share. The government maintains that the original valuation should have been only $3,547.84 a share, and seeks to obtain $30,000,000 from former stockholders.
In additional taxes which would have accrued from profits shown on sale had the lower valuation been set.

DEAD FIANCE'S NOTE
HINTS AT POISONING

Marshalltown, Ia.—(AP)—A statement by Veda Bellefeuille, contradicted a written instruction by her dead fiance, who she had talked of suicide or of attempting his life, and a clash of expert opinion as to whether Charles Elrod met death last Saturday night by poison or from natural causes deepened the mystery facing local officials.

In a letter written by Elrod to the 19-year-old school girl, while he was in a dying condition, he told her he had drained her poisoned him and declared that although she once threatened his life, he could not believe that she had attempted to kill him.

The girl has denied that such a threat ever was made by her.

Thursday was searching for Lory L.
Price, state highway patrolman, and his wife Ethel, who he believes were kidnaped from their home here Monday night by Shelton gangsters.

bed had been slept in that night, but no foot prints on the ground. Indicated Price had been led away in his bare-feet. Telephone wire had been cut outside the house. Price was covered by the hard road between Carbondale

CHARGE "PROPAGANDA"
IN BILL ON STOCKYARDS

Washington—(AP)—After the charge had been made that the "forged propaganda" had been circulated among the members favoring the Capper-Tinner bill to regulate private stock yards, the house agricultural committee
Thursday postponed a vote on the measure.

The propaganda charge was made by Representative Williams, Republican, Illinois, and Representative Tinner, Republican, Kansas, co-authors of the bill, which the committee said that this committee could investigate.

SMITH STILL

May Hear Decision on Seating Today

BULLETIN

Washington—(AP)—Rallying in unexpected force friends of Frank L. Smith made a desperate fight Thursday to overturn the odds that have forecast his exclusion from the senate.

As the second day of debate dragged on, with a possibility of action before adjournment, parties of the Illinois senator—designate privately sought by means of personal suasion to wipe out the slender majority that had been claimed against him.

When Wednesday's session adjourned the opposition had the advantage by a handful of votes and the opposition leaders still were claiming Thursday that this advantage would be held until the showdown. On the other side, however, predictions began to grow rosier.

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Frank L. Smith of Illinois, waited behind the lines Thursday for a decision in his fight to gain a senate seat.

Lacking over the encouragement of his supporters for victory he was expected to know by nightfall or sooner the vote which decides whether he shall be seated or barred pending an investigation by the elections committee of contributions to his campaign fund.

Last minute, but unofficial polls had shown 46 senators, chiefly Democrats and Republican insurgents, opposed to giving Smith, pending the committee inquiry, the seat to which he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator McKinley, with 42 senators, including three Democrats and the Republican regulars lined up for administering the oath immediately and investigating afterwards.

Ohio City

Canton, O.—(AP)—Canton authorities
Thursday faced another murder mystery. The nude body of an unidentified man, with the skull crushed and showing evidence of having been strangled was found in a sewer West-nesday.

After the murder, an attempt had been made to burn the body, according to Coroner T. C. McGuire. The man had been dead about two weeks. A coat bore a tailor's mark, "Goldie's Clothing, 781 Fifth-ave, New York." The coat and trousers were found near the body.

MARX FAILS TO FORM
NEW GERMAN CABINET

Berlin—(AP)—Chancellor Marx's negotiations for the formation of a cabinet of the middle parties have failed.
He returned his commission to President Von Hindenburg Thursday.

The president reserved decision as to what further steps would be taken to solve the ministerial crisis.

Dr. Marx Thursday morning conferred with the chairman of the People's party which since Wednesday has been urging a Rightist coalition.

The conference developed innumerable difficulties for the formation of a coalition of the middle parties, whereupon Dr. Marx visited President Von Hindenburg and reported that his efforts had been fruitless.

Chaplin Has Million In Cold Cash, Receivers Say

Los Angeles—(AP)—Lita Grey Chaplin looked forward to a payday Thursday, as her attorneys prepared to go into court to collect from Chaplin bank books found in the studio safe in divorce suit against the wealthy comedian who, it was disclosed, has almost $1,000,000 in cold cash.

Receivers of the Chaplin fortune,

nesday reported an examination of Chaplin's temporary affairs. They showed cash balances for Chaplin and his corporations totaling almost $1, 000,000 scattered through banks in Hollywood, Los Angeles, New York
England and France.

Of this amount $715,517 is in the actor's personal accounts approximately $17,000 of which is in California banks and in the jurisdiction of the courts.

BETTER CHILDREN,
EDUCATOR CLAIMS

Indianapolis—(AP)—We shall have better children when we have better parents, declared L. A.
Peebles, dean of the University of Cincinnati, in a paper presented to the third annual state conference on Character Education here Thursday.

"The educator asserted that youth is by nature not one thing or different than of a generation, or countless centuries, ago."

"Human nature changes not," he said, "and all education is as water passing through a sieve, so far as nature's biological mandate is concerned."

"The tangible things of an evolving civilization such as industry, custom, literature, law, home invention, et al, change, and in adjusting to these, youth seems different."

"Society's major institutions for shaping character have been first the home and second, that of work. Formerly tied together, now hopelessly separated, a void is created which literally cannot be filled."

FARM GROUP
HITS POLICY
OF JARDINEMinnesota Farm Bureau Wants Probe of Activity of Agriculture Head

St. Paul—(AP)—Policies of William Jardine, secretary of agriculture, were termed a "national scandal calling for congressional investigation and Secretary Jardine was declared "totally unfit for the office he holds," by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation Thursday.

The charges were made in the report of the legislative committee of the farm bureau federation which is holding its annual meeting here. The report was unanimously adopted by the convention.

The committee recommended that the members of congress continue their efforts for enactment of farm legislation of the McNary-Haugen type to permit control of surplus crops. It pointed to the recent slump in the price of cotton as "evidence to thousands of southern farmers because of lack of such control."

JARDINE "OBSTRUCTIONIST" Secretary Jardine, in the report is termed "an obstructionist who has opposed all beneficial farm legislation and has played into the hands of the commercial and industrial interests of the interests of the agricultural states."

"Under his administration," the report says, "the United States Department of Agriculture has ceased to be a co-ordinate branch of our federal government. It is dominated by and is subservient to the department of commerce and the secretary of agriculture is head of his department in name only."

"The Jardine policy is a doubtful policy because of the calamitous economic conditions now surrounding agriculture which call for constructive leadership."

"This is a national scandal of the first order calling for a searching investigation as contemplated in the Wheeler resolution now pending in the United States senate."

Manila, P. I.—(AP)—Manuel Quezon, speeches, delivered at a dinner to I.

that nothing short of immediate and absolute independence would satisfy the Filipino people. They asserted that there would be no let down in

During the ambassador's visit a suba supreme court order. Mrs. Mason alleged in her complaint that she had ulation at Washington

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—While no definite move has been made by either the United States or Mexico looking to arbitration of the oil and land law dispute, Secretary Kellogg's announcement that he has considered before any step was taken to submit the question has aroused considerable speculation in Washington and Mexico City.

It is concerned chiefly with the many preliminary obstacles that would have to be surmounted first before any step was taken to submit the question to an arbitrator or some impartial tribunal.

SURPRISE WITNESS IN NORRIS MURDER TRIAL

Austin, Texas—(AP)—Counsel for the Rev. Frank Norris Thursday had called a surprise witness to support his contention that the fort Worth Baptist pastor killed Dexter E. Chippis in self-defense when the landman called at the church July 17 last.

D. L. Redmon, an oil field worker, entered the church with Chippis and was asking questions relative to the locations of the study, R. Donna Ridgway testified Wednesday. Ridgway said he was in an automobile near the church and that when Redmon asked him questions he saw him
"How well I know him when I see him."

Ridgway, who is a Fort Worth attorney, and a member of Dr. Norris's church, declared Chippis used some profanity in questioning Redmon.

While Mr. Kellogg's reference to arbitration relations already existing between the two countries has given rise to the observation that he undoubtedly had in mind the 1904-Godoy arbitration, the question of submission of disputes under certain circumstances to the Hague. Examination of the treaty discloses, however, that resort to it is surrounded with special difficulties, and for that reason it officially provides no other means of arbitration upon which the governments could agree shall be excluded under the treaty.

BUSINESSMEN GET LOTS OF LAUGHS AS THEY LEARN LESSON

Luncheon Speaker Punctuates Cooperation Sermon With Funny Stories

Stressing the importance of organization, work and cooperation, J. H. Hudson, secretary of the retail interests committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, entertained more than 200 members of the local chamber with a talk which sparkled from start to finish with jokes, epigrams and humor. Hudson's experiences of the speaker's life while entertaining his listeners with humor which caused several of Appleton's prominent business men to laugh until tears ran down their cheeks. Mr. Hudson drove home a lesson in the value of the chamber of commerce to the community and the value of the chamber of commerce to the value of organized effort. The meeting was sponsored by the Kiwanis club. This is the day of cooperation and teamwork and the business man who wishes to make a success without applying the principles soon changes his ideas. Mr. Hudson said. The chamber of commerce is an important institution, especially in knitting business men together for cooperation. It is the only organization which can unify all classes and business without friction, according to the speaker. Mr. Hudson praised the Appleton chamber and its efficiency and said cooperation of the business men and excellent work of the chamber officers help maintain a high standard here. A man's work in the community should determine his standing in that community, not his ability to own an expensive car or have luxuries. Mr. Hudson said. It is his work to make his home a better community that shows his type. A man who will not boost his city at every opportunity is a poor specimen, the speaker declared. This man is not a success at all. Hudson likes his work, was another point made by the speaker in his collection of humor. If he does not like his job he might as well quit and try anything else as he will not be a success. Don't stop for a job and become discouraged with life, keep going. Take the blows and come up for more until the tide changes, he concluded.

CHURCH REORGANIZES ITS BOY SCOUT TROOP

Special effort is being made to secure the membership of all boys of the First Methodist church between the ages of 12 and 15 in the church troop of Boy Scouts, under a reorganization plan put into effect this week. Harold H. Brown is leading the movement, and Dr. G. W. Carlson is assisting in teaching first aid and life saving work. A special committee of 10 will be appointed by Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor, to supervise the scouts and to help them carry out their program of activities. The new Boy Scout charter was adopted at a recent meeting of the official board of the church and the reorganization plan was approved. The scouts will meet once a week in the church gymnasium for drill exercises and other scout work. In addition, a program of hikes is being arranged with a week's camping trip at some lake during the vacation months.

MEASLES DECREASING SAYS HEALTH OFFICER

The number of cases of measles reported to the health department is rapidly decreasing, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer, who expressed the opinion that the epidemic is about spent in Appleton. During the past three days only three cases of the sickness were reported to the health officer. In the first two weeks of the month 52 cases were reported. Mr. Sanders stated he did not think the total number of cases for the entire month would exceed 100. There were 226 cases in December.

A few cases of chicken pox and whooping cough are reported each week, but this is a normal number. There is not a single case of small pox in the city although many valley cities are reporting this disease, according to Mr. Sanders.

KAUKAUNA MAN SPEAKS TO PAPERMAKING CLASS

Manufacture of Sulphate Pulp will be the subject of an address by R. M. Radsch, superintendent of the sulphate mill of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, at the lecture meeting of the pulp and paper making classes at 7:30 Wednesday evening Jan. 26 at the Appleton Vocational school. Mr. Radsch had been scheduled to speak at a later meeting, but owing to the fact that some of the speakers could not meet the dates arranged for them he will speak at the January session.

All persons interested in the manufacture of pulp and paper have been invited to attend the lecture. No fees are charged. Men from the paper and pulp mills of Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Green Bay and Appleton are expected to attend the lecture.

OLSON STOPPED IN CITY TO HAVE GUN FIXED, POLICE TOLD

Gunsmith Declares Youth Who Called on Him Answers Suspect's Description

A youth thought to be Erdman Olson, 18-year-old college student sought for the murder of his sweetheart, Clara Olson, near Prairie du Chien a few months ago, was in Appleton this week, it was reported to police Tuesday evening.

The police scoured the city for the suspect and a companion, who were said to be driving a medium sized touring car, but no persons answering to the description given authorities were found.

Their presence in Appleton was reported by Michael Wagner, a gunsmith at 110 S. Walnut-st.

He said two youths entered his store about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and asked to have an automatic revolver repaired. They told him they had come from Waupaca and were on their way to Canada. After inquiring about the condition of roads in this vicinity, they evidently decided to take highway 47 out of the city. Mr. Wagner did not know what make of car they were driving, but he said it was a medium sized touring car.

Mr. Wagner repaired the revolver, received cash in payment for the work and thought nothing more about his customers until he returned home that night. Picking up a copy of the Appleton Post-Crescent, he noticed a picture of Olson on the front page.

"Why, that is the same man who was in my store this afternoon," he said. The more he studied the picture, the more certain he became that it was Olson whom he had waited on in the afternoon.

He immediately notified the police department.

The man whom he believes was Olson wore a seal skin cap, a grey overcoat, brown gloves and light tan shoes. He carried a blue steel automatic revolver with a long barrel, and wore two rings on his left hand, one on the ring finger and the other on the little finger.

His companion had on black shoes, a blue overcoat and a brown fedora hat and carried two revolvers. It was one of his guns that the youths had repaired.

Although Wagner did not know what kind of a car they were using, he remembered it had a black top and a green body.

Olson was reported seen on a train near Waupaca last Monday. A barber who said he had often shaved Olson told Waupaca police he had recognized a youth on the train. He said Olson had gotten off the train at Waupaca. The barber claimed that recognition had been mutual.

Police are inclined to scout the theory that it was Olson who was in Appleton this week. They say it would be a most difficult feat to drive an automobile between Waupaca and this city, and they doubt that Olson would be driving about in as open a manner as these men evidently were.

PROPOSED PLAN OF POLICE PAY READ AT COUNCIL MEETING

Comparisons Show Other Cities Are Paying Better Than Appleton

A definite wage schedule that provides for yearly increases in the salaries of members of the police department, was presented to the common council at the meeting Wednesday night by Police Chief George T. Prim. In the same schedule the chief asked that his own salary be increased from $2,350 to $2,500.

The schedule provides that the captain is to receive a salary of $160 per month for the first year and $170 per month after the first year. At present he is receiving $137.50 per month.

The mechanic's salary would be set at $135 for the first year, which is the present salary, and increase to $140 after the first year; $145 after the second year; $155 after the third year. Desk and detective sergeants would receive a salary of $125 for the first year; $130 after the first year; $135 after the second year; $145 after the third year; $155 after the fifth year. The present salary of the sergeants is $130.

The patrol driver would begin with a salary of $115, according to the schedule, which would be increased to $120 after the first year; $125 after the second year; $135 after the third year; $145 after the fifth year. He draws a salary of $130 at present.

Patrolmen would receive $115 during the first year of service, which would be raised to $120 after the first year; $125 after the second year; $135 after the third year; $145 after the fifth year.

The schedule was referred to the police and license committee. This committee is to meet within the next week.

Comparisons have been presented to show that in a larger majority of Wisconsin cities policemen now are receiving larger salaries than would be paid here after the new schedule is adopted. In Manitowish, West Allis, Watertown, Waukesha, Superior, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Beloit, Racine, Kenosha, and Madison the salaries for patrolmen after the third year range from $1,620 to $1,600 a year. Most of the cities are paying their patrolmen $1,650 or $1,740 after the third year. Under the proposed schedule Appleton patrolmen would receive $1,620 after the third year of service. Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha, much smaller cities than Appleton, are paying their patrolmen the same wages as they receive here, it was reported.

COUNCIL AGREES TO DEFER ACTION ON CITY DIVISION

Police and Fire Chiefs' Application for More Pay Goes to Committees

Petitions from Fire Chief George P. McGillan and Police Chief George T. Prim asking for salary increases from $2,350 to $2,500 were read at the meeting of the common council Wednesday night. The fire chief's petition was referred to the fire and water committee and Chief Prim's application was referred to the police and license committee.

Both chiefs made their application on the ground that they were on duty practically 24 hours a day, that they carried responsibilities which warranted a higher salary than they are receiving and that they are not being paid the same scale as similar officers in other cities. The police and fire committees are working on a definite wage schedule for the members of the two departments and the chiefs' salaries will be considered at the same time. Special meetings of the committees are to be held within the next week.

DEFER WARD DIVISION

"Because of the present controversy between the county board and the city," the special committee on dividing the city into more wards so that the city would have a larger representation on the county board, reported the matter be "postponed until such time as circumstances may automatically adjust certain matters pertaining to this situation or that it be deferred until such time as conditions are more favorable," the report was accepted.

A. Tomasum, wrestling promoter, was granted a license to hold a wrestling match in Armory G. Thursday night. Sewer licenses were granted to Frank Bartz and Anton Gootzinger. A class "A" permit was granted to E. J. Glassner.

A claim for damages amounting to $290.60 was made by Edward Calvert.

717 E. Alvin-st, who said he had paid that much in doctor's and nurse's bills for his wife who fractured her hip when she stumbled over a projecting sewer fixture on E. College-ave. between Oneida and Morrison-sts. The claim was referred to the judiciary committee and the city attorney.

Misses Hilda Therin and Helen Patterson of Chicago are spending a week with friends in Appleton.

EPISCOPALIANS TO ATTEND GREEN BAY CHURCH SERVICES

Three National Crusaders Will Conduct Bishop's Crusade Services

Many members of All Saints Episcopal church will attend the special services at Green Bay next week from Monday to Friday in conjunction with the Bishop's Crusade being observed in all Episcopal churches in the country, according to the Rev. H. S. Gately, pastor. The Crusade began on St. Andrew's day, Nov. 30, and will close in the Green Bay district Friday night, Jan. 28.

Three national crusaders will conduct the special services at Green Bay. They are the Rev. Campbell Gray, D. D., bishop of northern Indiana; the Very Rev. T. H. Johnston, D. D., Litt. D., dean of St. Philip's cathedral, Atlanta, Ga.; and Francis Eusey, of Milwaukee. The purpose of the crusade is to arouse in Episcopal people a new earnestness and interest in religious and spiritual life.

From Sunday, Jan. 16, to Thursday, Jan. 20, the three crusaders are in charge of special services at Fond du Lac. From Thursday, Jan. 20 to Monday, Jan. 24, they will work at Wausau; from Monday, Jan. 24, to Thursday, Jan. 28, they will conduct the services at Green Bay.

Episcopal churches from as far north as Marinette and as far south as Appleton will send delegates to the special services. Pastors of these churches probably will attend several sessions. The Crusade will culminate with the annual council of the Fond du Lac diocese at Fond du Lac on Feb. 1. Bishop R. H. Weller of Fond du Lac will preside at the council. Lay delegates and pastors of all parishes and missions throughout the diocese will attend.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS VOLLEYBALL MEET

Representative Team Will Be Selected from Business League

Plans for an interclass volleyball tournament between gymnasium class teams of the Y. M. C. A. were started at a meeting of the association volleyball committee last week. A tourney held last year was successful from two standpoints, a report showed. It promoted friendliness, good fellowship and fun and acquainted each man with the other fellow's style of play, enabling him to help select the team which represented Appleton at the state tourney in Milwaukee.

Any man attending the business men's classes, regardless of his ability as a player, will be invited to participate in the tourney which will be played every Wednesday evening, starting Wednesday, Jan. 26. The men accepting the invitation will be up in six teams with seven or eight men on a team. Each team will play every other squad and after the meet a vote will be taken to select the 21 best players in this general group. They will in turn be divided into four teams of six men and another tourney will be played and another vote taken on a representative team. This is a democratic way of selecting the representative team, giving every one a chance to select his team as well as giving all a tryout and a good time, the committee believes.

SUPERVISORS MAY VOTE ON DRY LAW

County Board Will Consider Resolutions Adopted by Other Counties

Included in business scheduled for the February session of the county board will be the consideration of a number of resolutions adopted by other county boards in the state last fall. It is reported by John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

Two resolutions already on file in the clerk's office have to do with the Volstead act and with penalties for highway robbery.

A resolution adopted by one county board and one which will be brought to the attention of the Outagamie supervisors, favors modification of the Volstead act so as to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and light wine. Modification is a solution to the many evils which have arisen from the eighteenth amendment, this board held. It is pointed out that enough time has elapsed since passage of the law to prove its failure, that the country is receiving less revenue than it did before, that congress now must appropriate much money to attempt to enforce the law, that corruption and bribery is common, and that more moonshine is in existence now than ever before.

The St. Croix co. board last fall adopted a resolution favoring increasing the penalties now provided for those convicted for highway robbery, acts, such as daylight bank robberies, store robberies, gas filling station and garage robberies. The board urged that the indeterminate sentence be abolished, and that the state legislature consider the establishment of a whipping post.

COUNTY BOARD HEADS TO MEET AT MILWAUKEE

The annual meeting of the Wisconsin County Boards association will be held Feb. 2, 3 and 4 at the courthouse in Milwaukee. John E. Hantschel, county clerk, has been notified. The county clerk and Mike Mack, chairman of the Outagamie co. board, probably will attend.

Besides the regular program, visits to Milwaukee institutions are being arranged. Delegates will be taken on visits to the county poor farm, the infirmary, the county hospital for insane, the home for dependent children, and the Mundelein tuberculosis sanatorium. A visit to the county agricultural school also may be arranged.

Special entertainment features will include a luncheon at the Elk club on Wednesday noon, Feb. 2, and a theatre party. Many important matters relative to county legislative projects will be considered.

MAY BAR MARRIED WOMEN AS TEACHERS IN MADISON SCHOOLS

Madison—(AP)—Married women would be barred from teaching or clerical positions under the jurisdiction of the Madison board of education, in a resolution introduced at a board meeting Tuesday night. Widows, however, would be exempt from the rule.

The resolution, which will be the special order of business at the next session, provides for the immediate expulsion of any teacher or clerk who marries while in the employ of the board. H. W. Pickford is the author of the resolution.

From "NEA" Writers to Appleton Post-Crescent Readers--Howdy!

That word "news"—how vastly comprehensive it is these modern days. Time was when the only newspapers known to America were political handbills, written to serve some particular political purpose.

Inventions which tightened the world's communication belt notch after notch were perfected, and "news" began to take on its modern diversity.

Today, what isn't "news"? Answering that question probably would be far easier than were the inquiry "What IS news?"

But we want to tell you particularly about the news appearing in the Post-Crescent which is supplied by NEA Service, the world's greatest combined news and feature organization. The NEA news which Post-Crescent prints is exclusive. No other Appleton newspaper can obtain it.

The NEA writers don't bother with the miscellany of everyday news. They handle only big stories. For these, they are on the lookout not only all over the United States, but in foreign countries as well.

They Look Under Surface

Nor do the NEA writers concern themselves with the mere chronological recording of news happenings. Instead they search out the feature angles of the big stories on which they are working—the backgrounds, the personalities, the high lights. They blaze new trails of reporting, or elucidate, or "follow up" satisfying where other writers have let down disappointingly.

Nearly all NEA stories are about people. Through most of them runs some compelling human interest theme.

If some public event of nation-wide interest is pending—a political contest, an exceptionally dramatic murder trial, a visit to the U. S. by foreign royalty, or what not—the NEA writers picture feature aspects of it which other writers overlook or touch on but meagerly.

If some puzzling situation of wide-spread interest develops, NEA is apt, in its enterprising way, to be the first source of information as to the real facts behind it.

Intimate mirroring of the thoughts and activities of men and women who are distinguished—who stand out from the crowd—always pleases newspaper readers, and for this reason NEA Service specializes in interviews.

If some great enterprise is afoot, kindling the popular fancy, NEA writers—aided, as they always are, by the best artists and photographers—promptly are at work visualizing it for you.

Let us introduce a few of the NEA writers personally. They are real flesh and blood persons, not just "by-lines."

Experts All

In charge of the Chicago bureau of NEA Service, and author of many of the stories which NEA distributes, is Roy J. Gibbons.

The best description of Gibbons perhaps is just that he is a great American reporter. Certainly no list of great American reporters would be complete without his name. He is credited with some of NEA's biggest "scoops".

Miss Allene Sumner is a member of the Cleveland NEA staff. She once was librarian in an institution for the blind. Now she is a topmost star at translating human interest incidents of American life into words.

At Washington the NEA staff is headed by Rodney Dutcher. He is a graduate of years of splendid work with one of the best known telegraphic press associations.

At 148 Fleet street, London, you will find Milton Bronner, NEA's star foreign correspondent.

Virginia Swain and Hortense Saunders, members of the New York NEA staff, write adeptly on news subjects of a general nature as well as on matters of peculiar interest to women. Lee Trenholm is another New York feature specialist whose "byline" means an absorbing story.

Israel Klein watches the scientific world for simmerings of interesting feature news, and then tells this news to readers of NEA client papers in non-technical, yet thoroughly informative language.

William M. Braucher is a Cleveland NEA writer from whose typewriter come classic examples of humorous reporting now and then. Bruce Catton and Paul Harrison are two other brilliant Cleveland NEA men.

In charge of the San Francisco NEA plant, and author of gripping news features on Pacific coast affairs, is William C. Etheredge.

Obviously, such an organization delivers feature news to Post-Crescent that papers not fortified with an NEA affiliation cannot hope to have. The men and women who gather it are animated by the cardinal NEA spirit—enterprise—and equipped with expert training, so that what they write will bear the hallmark of reportorial excellence.

This feature news is one of the factors that go to make a subscription to Post-Crescent so well worth while.

A few of NEA's staff of writers are pictured here. You will read of others in later advertisements of this series.

Back and forth across the country they constantly are traveling. Their home offices are homes in name only. Their jobs are where the news is.

A far-flung line of contributing correspondents reinforces the regularly employed NEA staffs. There are one or more correspondents of NEA in every important city and town.

Alert, capable, reliable correspondents they are, chosen for their especial fitness to handle emergency NEA assignments.

LAWYER SUES TO GET PAY FROM HIS CLIENT

Neenah—An action brought by Charles H. Vette, Neenah attorney, against Fred Zeh, also of Neenah, to collect $128 in fees he alleges are due him, started Thursday morning in circuit court. Zeh alleges Vette agreed to represent him in a trial on a percentage basis but the attorney contends he told Zeh he would not work on this basis. A default judgment obtained by Vette in circuit court was appealed to the state supreme court, some time ago and the judgment reversed. The controversy originated in a slander action in circuit court in September, 1921. Zeh sued Almi Napuk. Neenah junk dealer for slander. He obtained a verdict of $364. Vette represented Zeh, but Zeh refused to pay him in full for his services. TWIN CITY
DEATHS

ALFRED TENNYSON
Neenah—Alfred Tennyson, 54, a resident of Neenah for ten years, died at 12:45 Thursday morning at his home on E. Forest-ave. Mr. Tennyson came to Neenah from Marinette, where he had lived the greater part of his early life. He was a member of the Modern Woodman and Modern Brotherhood societies. COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creosolium, an emulsion of creosote that is pleasant to take. Creosolium is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creosolium contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creosolium is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Body of John Silwanowicz, Slain in Detroit, Taken to Menasha for Burial

Menasha—The body of John Silwanowicz, who was killed at his home in Detroit Sunday night, arrived in Menasha at 11 o'clock Wednesday night and was taken to the home of his brother, Adam Silwanowicz, 721 Third-st. It was accompanied from Detroit by the widow and two children and by William Silwanowicz, who left for Detroit Monday morning upon receiving a telegram announcing his brother's death. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at St. John church. The services will be conducted by the Rev. W. H. Polaczek, pastor, and interment will be made in St. John cemetery.

Mr. Silwanowicz was shot to death in his own home shortly before 11 o'clock Sunday night by a former roomer and friend, Steve Kowalewski, who spent the evening with him. According to Mrs. Silwanowicz, Kowalewski called about 5 o'clock in the afternoon and after a pleasant evening her husband informed his caller that it would be necessary for him to leave as he had to work the next day and wanted to retire. The caller informed him he was not to work the next day and Mr. Silwanowicz wanted to know who was going to stop him. He said he was and drawing a revolver from his pocket shot him through the heart and then endeavored to make his escape.

Mrs. Silwanowicz promptly called the police patrol and the murderer was captured as he was descending the residence steps. He attempted to use his revolver on one of the officers, but was overpowered. The wounded man was hastened to a nearby hospital and there he was placed on an operating table. Mr. Silwanowicz was 32 years old and survived by his widow and two children, Adelaide and John, Jr., by his brother William of Menasha and by a brother and sister in Poland. He served in the world war and was a member of the Veterans association of Detroit. He had been a resident of Detroit for the last six years.

IF BACK HURTS
FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The functions of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts are inexpensive; cannot injure; make a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

FARMER FARTHER FROM TOWN NOW, EXPERT BELIEVES

U. W. Man Lays Condition to Unsatisfactory Side Roads

Madison—(AP)—The Wisconsin farmer is "farther from town now than he was 15 years ago," in the opinion of K. L. Hatch, assistant director of agricultural extension work at the University of Wisconsin.

Unsatisfactory side road conditions and an abundance of mud holes leading from farms to main highways bring the condition about, Prof. Hatch declared, and as a result an intensive program of road development is receiving his attention.

Working in cooperation with the Good Roads Committee in Dane county, Prof. Hatch looks toward a rapid development of the heretofore neglected farm roads. Through county and two appropriations, the committee expects to provide for suitable road facilities.

The program of the committee, concentrated in Dane county, calls for contests among several cities and towns based on a six-fold scoring method: the amount of money, the number of miles, the number of miles, the number of miles, the number of miles, the number of miles.

The condition exists all over Wisconsin, Prof. Hatch stated, and is even a nation-wide problem. Arterial highways link cities and span the spaces of all states, but the intervening lands in many localities still remain unsurfaced.

Prizes totalling $500 will be distributed to the towns showing the best average in the competition. "We will advocate the continuance of the trunk highway system," Prof. Hatch said, "not necessarily constructed on the present scale but rather of the super-highway type. However, the side road development is also a necessary item in the program for a greater state."

Farmers are farther from the city now than they were fifteen years ago, unless they happen to live on a main highway. Years ago produce was taken to the city by teams and the farmer was able to gauge his load accordingly. Now, however, when the farmer sends his produce by means of a truck, the heavy vehicles cut deep tracks in the usually soft road beds and, following, the farmer is unable to drive his higher car through the dirt or mud, depending upon the weather.

The consumer penalizes himself when he does not encourage the construction of additional roads to criss-cross the main highways. By enabling the farmer to get to the city easily the merchant's profits increase.

Cooperation of farm and factory as proposed by leaders of both fields, implying joint prosperity, he said, can best be accomplished by improved transportation facilities. Surfaced roads to every farm simultaneously with construction of super-highways will be the slogan of the committee, Prof. Hatch explained.

Ever-growing traffic conditions will call for expansive trunk road systems, he said, but the neglect of the farm roads may constitute a death blow to the rural communities.

The Madison Association of Commerce is sponsoring the committee's action, the roster of which includes T. Denahay, state highway engineer. Prof. Hatch is chairman.

TIME TO SLOW DOWN

The state highway engineer announces enthusiastically, in a report of the Highway commission, that if the present progress of road development is maintained Wisconsin will be "out of the mud" in three years. Should the average of the 1926 and 1927 programs be continued for from eight to ten years, more than one half of the ten thousand miles of state trunk highway system would be concrete or other high type of surfacing. If continued for only three years, the entire surface would be covered with all-weather surfacing. Funds available for the state trunk system in 1927 are estimated at $24,566,000, a portion of which will be returned to towns, cities and villages for improvement of local roads and to counties for highway improvement. The report says that although motor vehicles do not at present pay their share of the highway and street bill, the total funds derived from this source will provide for steady improvement of our highways.

These facts and forecasts read very well in a report, and such roads as it describes are undoubtedly nice to travel over and of great economic value to the state. There are, however, some who believe the development of highway construction in Wisconsin has been more rapid than its finances soundly advise, and that the burdens of taxation, about which so much complaint is made, are to an appreciable extent due to this intensively prosecuted highway program. No newspaper has more consistently supported good roads than the Post-Crescent. Nevertheless, taxes for highways have reached the point where they ought to be seriously considered by the taxpayer before approving further large expansion of road building. There is such a thing, as the report of the Highway commission says, as building roads faster than the public demands, whereas exactly the reverse policy will prove better in the long run, that is, building a little slower than the public demands.

If improved roads were the only public requirement that had to be considered we could put all the money into them we desired, but we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that state taxation has increased tenfold in twenty-six years and property values only threefold. Road building has been a heavy burden on cities because in addition to having to help finance rural highway construction, they provide for all of their street improvements locally. They have no share in the highway funds. Wisconsin in six or seven years has transformed itself from a sea of mud to one of the best paved states in the entire country. That is going pretty fast. We do not say it is not paid, for we think it has, but it has been on a scale that cannot be continued indefinitely. There must be a reduction of capital outlay, or between that and maintenance we shall be swamped. Our good roads have cost us a lot of money and they are worth it, but we must also keep in mind that they are largely responsible for the high taxes. If we are going to reduce taxes or hold them approximately where they are; if we are to get rid of the obnoxious personal property tax and take some of the burdens off of industry, there must be retrenchment somewhere.

We think we have reached the point in highway development where we can begin to let down in this field. Accepting the Highway department's figures, twenty-five million dollars is a large sum for Wisconsin to spend on highways in one year. A few years ago some states authorized bond issues of from fifty to one hundred million dollars, payable over a term of ten years, and these outlays were regarded as large. Apparently we have since passed it. We are not in favor of anything normal and judicious continuing highway development, but we think it may be overdone and that position the tendency has been in that direction.

CHINA FOR CHINESE

European powers, and that class of Americans which has been supporting them, may as well concede the fact that territorial exploitation of China is at an end. Indeed, it will not be long until their strongholds on that continent must be abandoned and China restored to the Chinese. The rioting in South China, which threatens Shanghai, is the indirect result of greedy interference by foreigners. So long as China was prostrate and torn by sectional differences and civil uprisings, it was at the mercy of these exploiters.

By exploiters we do not mean those who have bona fide investments for the development of China's resources. European and American capital has been of the utmost value to the modernization of China. Without it there would have been no progress toward civilization. But the introduction of machinery, the construction of railroads, the building of great mills and factories, the education of the Chinese people to the use of western appliances and commodities, the better cultivation of its soil, the profitable operation of mines, are quite different from land grabbing.

The seizure of this peninsula, that city and this region by competing powers, with the ultimate hope of some day parceling the whole of China on the basis of occupation, has long been a thorn in the side of advancing Chinese, and it was inevitable that with or without further provocation attacks would ultimately be made upon these territorial holdings. All that was necessary was the crystallization of an aggressive nationalism, and that has been slowly taking place. Young China is coming forward, and the world must respect its demands for a free country.

Japan may be absolved from territorial or political designs on China, for the reason that she stands to profit most by the expulsion of European powers from their footholds on eastern Asia. Great Britain stands to suffer the most and one fact explains the other, for it is Japan which may take a great and profitable commerce from her erstwhile ally. American policy should be, as it ever has been, to preserve the political entity and territorial integrity of China. It is its duty to protect its nationals in China, but it is not its duty to support movements or forces which in the background interfere with the development of a free, self-governing China.

FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS

The bill introduced in the legislature providing for an emergency appropriation of $750,000 to continue the work of eradicating bovine tuberculosis ought to be promptly passed if there is a real need for this additional money. The only fact to determine is whether Wisconsin's dairy business will suffer unduly unless the regular yearly appropriation is supplemented. Excellent progress is being made in testing, and it will be carried forward as rapidly as farmers and cattle owners find it indispensable and profitable to the marketing of milk. Health ordinance requirements in Chicago, Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha have rapidly hastened the test. In due course of time there will be no market for either cream or milk that has not come from certified stock. The completion of the test throughout the state is essential to Wisconsin's holding its place of preeminence as a dairying state. If, therefore, there is need for additional funds with which to carry on the work in order that our cattle owners and milk producers may not suffer, the appropriation should be authorized.

Just Folks

HUMAN BEINGS
We're much alike, wherever we are,
In traveling round I find,
Whether the place be near or far,
People of every kind,
The banker, baker, butcher man,
The minister with his prayer,
Whether though large or small the clan,
Everyone that we know is there.

In town or city it's just the same,
The generous man is known,
The man who has come to a little fame,
The woman who dwells alone,
The stingy man that they jest about,
The widow with silvered hair,
The doctor they never could do without,
You'll find that they all are there.

The ne'er-do-well and the man of pride,
The cynic, the sage, the fool,
The mother whose only baby died,
And there's never a place on earth so small
That cannot our story tell,
For whatever the types, it has them all
From the saint to the ne'er-do-well.

HERE IS SOMETHING WHICH PENETRATES

The medical theories of a generation ago, whether correct or fallacious, are the popular fancies of the present generation. An old medical theory which has been exploded and discarded by medical science but still cherished by laymen becomes a serious obstacle in the way of popular health education, especially when it happens that such a theory is exploited by commercial or proprietary interests. We formerly believed that various medicaments, certain poisons, and even some food substances actually penetrated the unbroken skin when applied with friction or heat or when "well rubbed in."

One such medicament or food which we believe the normal skin absorbed when was freely applied thereto was cod liver oil. Feeble, sickly infants were often given rubs,unctions or baths of cod liver oil, and the best clinical or practical evidence was that this seemed to benefit such infants in many cases.

Cod liver oil is one of the richest sources of vitamin A (which prevents ophthalmia, night blindness, and is essential for the development of immunity against respiratory infections) and vitamin D (which prevents rickets and is essential for normal bone growth, and tooth development in infants and young children). We do not as yet understand precisely what a "vitamin" is, but we know that vitamins are readily oxidized (hence likely to be destroyed by prolonged boiling or other cooking with access of air). It is not unreasonable to suppose that vitamins may be volatile in character. If this assumption be correct, then the good effect of cod liver-oil rubs for infants or children unable to take cod liver oil internally may be explained. The vitamin principle is destroyed by the friction and warmth of the body and inhaled by the patient. In following this line of speculation we take off from the scientific facts that volatilization and inhalation of the medicament is the explanation of any systemic effects, any indication of absorption into the body, of such remedies as mercury, iodine, chloroform and camphor when these are applied to the skin in the form of salve or liniment. Likewise the best scientific evidence at present warrants the opinion that lead poisoning in various industries, such as painting, printing, occurs in the same way, namely, by inhalation of fumes or of swallowing of lead in dust particles, and not through the skin. Painters and printers know from experience that lead poisoning is more likely to develop when the work is dry and dusty and the place unventilated or inadequately ventilated, than it is in wet or oily work.

Although no medicinal or food substance and no poison penetrates the unbroken skin in any circumstances, it is too much to say that the skin is impervious to any external influence, for certain forms of radiant energy do penetrate the skin and act upon the deep or internal structures of the body. Radium, X-ray, ultraviolet ray, heat rays, all penetrate more or less. Heat penetrates the least of all these. But we needn't feel much regret about that, for nowadays we have something which gives the effect of heat penetrating quite through the body, and this is the high frequency alternating electric current of relatively high voltage and low amperage, known as diathermy—which means literally heating through. With diathermy the physician can raise the temperature, say of an inflamed or infected joint lining or a nasal sinus lining many degrees above normal, a thing heretofore impossible of attainment. This is not heat penetrating but the special electric current penetrating and being converted into heat in the deep tissue where the heat is required. On the surface there is no burning or discomfort experienced by the patient. But the effect of the deep heat is truly a miracle in many instances, in the relief the patient experiences from pain, lameness and stiffness.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Obstacles

Kindly furnish me a statement as to the minimum qualifications for a young man who wishes to enter on the study of osteopathy. Are there any legal obstacles placed in the way of osteopaths as there are, I understand, in the case of the chiropractors. (C. M. L.)

Answer—I know of no legal obstacles in the way of osteopaths or chiropractors. Some states recognize osteopathy but not chiropractic. Every state or province has its own laws or regulations governing the licensing of physicians. Probably you can obtain detailed information from the American Schools Association, 1191 Times building, New York, N. Y.

The War Seems to Be Here at Home

HASKIN WRITES TODAY

ON—

A CONVENTION COUNTRY.

Washington, D. C. — Men whose business it is to know about such things say that there are approximately 15,000 conventions of one kind and another in the United States every year. Some of them are international gatherings or world congresses, many of them are national affairs, while most of them are state or local in character.

The larger cities of the country are keen rivals for the privilege of entertaining these conventions. In a few instances the by-laws or constitution of an organization stipulate that its annual meeting shall be held in a certain city, and in the case of state associations it is obvious that their meetings will not be held outside the State of the organization's origin. Thus the number of conventions that cities can fight for is decidedly reduced from the grand total of 15,000. In fact, it is stated on the best authority that there are not more than 2,000 conventions that may be said to be at large and subject to being snared by the city that is the most hospitable, or that makes the most of its attractions.

In going after these gatherings almost every city of importance has a convention bureau which may be an adjunct of the local chamber of commerce or board of trade or may be an independent organization manned by experts who know the convention game inside and out. Most of their work is done by correspondence, but in case of the larger conventions they frequently attend and make personal bids for the next session. Kansas City with a convention bureau that is fifteen years old may be cited as a typical example of what a city can do in this line when it tries. The western metropolis of Missouri made a bid for the Republican national convention of 1908. The city had a splendid auditorium and fairly good hotel accommodations, but it didn't have the organization to turn the trick.

INDEPENDENT CIVIC UNIT

After that experience the business men of Kansas City expanded their convention bureau from a mere committee of the chamber of commerce to an independent civic unit. Moreover, they gave it an operating fund of $25,000 a year, which is paid in advance so that the bureau has its money before it spends a nickel, and this has proved to be such a good investment that Kansas City is now on record with the declaration that "a well organized convention bureau is as necessary to a city as a paved street or a union station."

Municipalities get their dividends out of conventions not alone through the money which the delegates spend during the three or four days or week that their organizations are in session. That is a considerable item, of course. No delegate to a convention of any importance spends less than $10 a day in the city that is entertaining him, and in most instances the daily contributions run far above that sum. From this source, for example, it is said that Kansas City business interests drew dividends of $15,000,000 in seven years on an investment of but a little more than $15,000.

A city also profits in a large way from conventions and similar gatherings in the instance of a man's being so favorably impressed with his host city that he decides to establish a factory or some other business installation there. In the case of a factory with but a few hundred employees the city acquires a substantial increase in population and new capital and business that run into the millions every year.

Washington has a convention bureau less than two years old that has been functioning with exceptional success. During the year just passed the national capital entertained 212 of the 2000-odd conventions that are available for cities of this class. C. E. La Vigne, executive director of the bureau, says that this is 18 times Washington's proportionate expectancy in the competition for conventions. These conventions ranged from those of stationers and certified public accountants to various international scientific organizations, sanitary engineers, Ku Klux Klan, and "selected morticians," as modern undertakers prefer to be known. Also there have been gatherings of Baptists, Congregationalists, and other church people. In all these affairs brought something like 100,000 visitors to Washington and contributed several million dollars to the city's commercial pool.

WHY WASHINGTON IS POPULAR
Washington is popular as a convention city despite the fact that it is not at all centrally or even conveniently located. It has so many attractive features of historic interest and there are so many interesting people here — statesmen, diplomats, Army and Navy officials, distinguished jurists, and the like, that delegates are reasonably certain of getting "even more than their money's worth." They can look in on the two houses of Congress and if luck is with them they may hear a blanton in the House or a Reed in the Senate. They have a fair chance of seeing the man who was once President of the United States and is now at the head of its judiciary. They may get themselves presented at the White House and enjoy the privilege of shaking the hand that rules the most important sector of the world and they may see Cabinet Members, Generals, and Admirals world without end.

Then, too, there are many side trips to be taken from Washington that in themselves repay one for a trip across the continent. Arlington, Alexandria, Mount Vernon, the beautiful Potomac country are immediately at hand, and not far away are a dozen great battle fields and scenic attractions not to be found anywhere else in the United States.

One important feature of the convention bureau as it is now exemplified in various cities is service. It is not so many years since a city might invite some national organization to hold an annual meeting within its confines and then forget all about it. The delegates would gather and find that no arrangements had been made to take care of them and that they might not be able to get a hotel unless they had made reservations in advance. Nowadays the convention bureau engages hotel accommodations, has representatives on hand to welcome the incoming hosts, supplies an information bureau, and has skilled men and women to handle registration, etcetera.

Washington business men who support the city's convention bureau say that it is a good investment. They have found that it pays dividends at a rate that would shame the biggest natural monopoly in the country and their only complaint is that not all who benefit from the bureau's work contribute to its support.

And Speaking of Washington as a convention city, few people know or will be willing to believe that the city ranks as one of the first four cities in the United States in the matter of hotel facilities. Such is the case. The others are New York, Chicago, and Atlantic City. Likewise it is to be noted that Washington now has a magnificent auditorium, thanks largely to Col. Robert N. Harper, who had both the vision and the energy to put over that vital municipal enterprise.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York. — There is any number of famous "stage families" where. In this who made fame and fortune rear children to the tradition of the theater.

Thus Eddie Foy and his youngsters, the famous Cohans, Fred Stone and his daughter, and many others.

On the other hand there are scores who make every effort to protect their offspring from footlights.

One of Broadway's most amusing tales concerns a celebrated "con shouter," whose acquaintance with hard-boiled and sentimental balladry has more than mere national recognition.

She is one of the old-fashioned show-women, and has been in every angle of the "racket," from vaudeville to night club proprietress.

She was exceedingly eager that her son turn his mind to things other than the theater. She sent him away to school and was careful that he get hold of none of her popular songs when he was home. As though her songs would fail to penetrate the walls of the school.

The years went on and the lad grew up and it seemed that she had achieved her wish.

Last summer she went to Europe. While she was away the son came home from school sat himself down at the family piano, ran through a few of her numbers and in a idle moment, created a couple of his own.

When she returned she found him a fat salaried hit at one of the leading night clubs.

"Well, folks," she had to admit, with just a suggestion of mist in eyes that have seen a great deal of the world, "I guess you might as well meet my baby. But you seem to know him in spite of me."

There is any number of instances of success achieved by the offspring of stage notables.

One of Henry Miller's sons already figures as a producer of real promise. William A. Brady, Jr. will put on at least three or four plays this season and is just getting his start.

Lew Fields, veteran comedian has a little boy, Herbie, who has written the books for two or three outstanding musical hits.

The little Foy's do everything from vaudeville sketches to movies and the daughters of Channing Pollock, playwright and popular singer, are actresses. Otis Skinner's daughter, Cornelia, has been variously a playwright and actress.

The Question Box

Q. What proportion of the people in the world eat rice as a substantial part of their diet? R. L.

A. Rice is a genus of grasses of which the only important species is the common rice, one of the most useful and extensively cultivated grains, supplying the principal food of one-half of the human race. It seems to have been originally a native of the East Indies, but has spread to all quarters of the globe, wherever the conditions of warmth and moisture are suitable.

Q. What per cent of fat must cream have in order to whip? T. M. D.

A. For cream to whip satisfactorily it should have 20 per cent of fat. A separating machine may be regulated to produce such cream, but if the milk is skimmed by hand it is impossible to get more than 18 or 20 per cent of fat.

Q. When did the first steam ferry leave New York City to Staten Island? C. A. S.

A. The first steam ferry boat between Staten Island and the mainland was the Nautilus, which made its first trip on November 29, 1817.

Q. Why is Lalique glass so-called? A. L. C.

A. It is named for its maker, Rene Lalique, a French jeweler.

Q. What was the size of the banquet on the wall of which Daniel saw the handwriting? H. H.

A. The actual dimensions are not known. It was sufficiently large to accommodate a thousand lords.

Q. Who established a navy yard at Norfolk? M. P. L.

A. The Norfolk Navy Yard was founded under the name Gosport in 1682 by the British. The name of Gosport was taken from the Gosport Navy Yard, Portsmouth, England, which was one of the most important shipyards of the time.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, American Nature Ass'n
I am sure we have all, at some time, out in an open field or in a neighboring patch of woods, played "Indians," and spent hours constructing preposterous tents so we can feel a bond of sympathy with the tent caterpillar, but it is hard to forgive him the destruction caused by him and his little tent.

We feel that somehow we must all Nature in overcoming these pests of our fruit, shade, and hardwood trees. Tent caterpillars belong to a family of silk spinners closely related to the "silk worm" of commerce.

When full size they are about two inches long with a cylindrical body lightly clothed with yellow hairs of varying lengths. They are black in color with a white stripe down the middle of the back.

The eggs from which tent caterpillars hatch are laid by the parent moth in wonderfully neat, ring-like masses around the buds. We may note the evil in the bud by removing and destroying the egg masses during the winter months. As each ring of cluster of eggs contains from 200 to 400 eggs the possibilities of doing good control work are evident.

In the spring the eggs hatch and the little caterpillars, after feeding upon the glue-like covering, start out together in search of green food. They usually select a fork near from the egg mass and start a nest for themselves, building a tent to which they return when not feeding upon leaves on nearby twigs.

The American or apple tree tent caterpillar often become numerous enough to completely defoliate many kinds of orchard and shade trees; it seems to prefer wild cherry.

DISCUSS BENEFITS OF FERTILIZERS AT BROWN-CO MEETING

FIND OUT SPECIAL NEEDS OF VARIOUS SOILS, PROF URGES

Determine Type of Fertilizer Needed by Different Kinds of Farmland

BY W. F. WINNEY
Special Farm Writer
Green Bay—Forty-five dealers in farm fertilizers, county agents and farmers, assembled from the territory bounded on the north by Marinette, on the southeast by Manitowish, on the west by Hortonville, met in the Brown-co courthouse Tuesday to take part in a phosphate educational campaign, conducted throughout the state by the soils department of the University of Wisconsin and the extension division. Prof. Griffith Richards, of the soils department, was the principal speaker of the afternoon. He was followed by Charles B. Drewry, county agent of Marinette-co.

"We know the value of fertilizers to growing crops," said J. P. Kavanaugh, county agent of Brown-co in introducing the speaker, "but how to induce the farmers to use fertilizers is a problem."

"The educational end of the soil fertilization problem is the difficult part of it," replied Prof. Richards. It has been resting on the university and I do not believe that enough has been accomplished."

Several years ago, the speaker indicated, the university in an educational campaign through farmers' institutions and other agencies, urged growers to lime their soil as a preparation to raising alfalfa. While a great many farmers did as requested, others neglected the advice.

"We still need much more information than we possess about the value of fertilizers to growing crops but we would carry the facts we possess to the people who might use them. We ought to have a week in this state set aside every year for the study of fertilizers."

"We have all kinds of soil in Wisconsin. In one county, 20 per cent of the land is made of granite. It is sandy and the soil when it needs phosphate. Sandy soils may need all kinds of fertilizers and clay loams certain kinds," the speaker said.

"Truck farmers and growers of cash crops, such as corn, cabbage and sugar beets need special fertilizer information. The college of agriculture is sponsoring many of its lines in its educational campaigns on fertilization for livestock farms. In general campaigns, only general farming problems are considered."

"We do not need fertilizers, some farmers say, because we put manure on our land. They are wrong in this assertion because every time a product of the soil is carried away from their farms some element of soil fertilization goes with it that is not replaced with manure."

CHEAPER TO BUY FERTILIZER
"Some farmers buy large quantities of feed and keep up the fertility of their land in that way but the cheaper way is to buy the special fertilizer needed and to raise the feed."

"There is lots of prejudice against the use of commercial plant food. This prejudice comes from the fact that some farmers who tried the experiment have not acted intelligently. You men who sell soil fertilizers must play a large part in the education of farmers on the kinds of fertilizers to use."

"The longer I am in this business, the more I believe in a general fertility of the soil program. There are a large number of farmers who are not succeeding and every farmer who is succeeding is working a plan."

IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM
"The Wisconsin Soil Improvement Program embraces a balanced five point program: (1) Lime, (2) phosphate, (3) green manuring, (4) manure, and (5) legume crops. This year, we are emphasizing the use of phosphate fertilizers."

"A great part of the fertilizing properties of manure are wasted even under the better methods of handling by leeching and otherwise. You can't put anything into manure that was not there before by piling it. The farmer who hauls it direct from the stable to the field gets the best results. Occasionally, the manure turns under a green crop and give back something to the soil which has been taken from it."

PUT LAND IN CONDITION
"Thousands and thousands of acres of land in this state are permanent more than a third of them produce more than three times as much grain as a trip to Sturgeon Bay. I did not see one first class clover field and only a few fields of good alfalfa. Land should be placed in condition to raise good

Poor Barney Must Go Way Of Most Beef-flesh Soon

Madison—(P)—Another champion will pass on next month when "Barney," sporting the title of a grand champion baby beef, makes steak for Wisconsin stockmen, Feb. 3.

Meeting in connection with Farmers and Homemakers week, the stockmen will assemble at a local hotel, 300 strong, to celebrate the passing of the 965 pound beef, crowned at the Junior Livestock show here last year.

Barney went to the block simultaneously with the celebration of his first birthday, Jan. 7. After a few weeks spent in the cooler of a local packing house, Barney is expected to be in excellent shape for the final test.

Barney was purchased from his showman, Edward O'Connell, of St. Croix-co. Figures on his feeding showed a daily gain of 2.77 pounds. Barney Sheridan, Fond du Lac Guernsey breeder, will be toastmaster of the affair. About 300 are expected to attend.

Concentrated Skim Milk Useful As Feed For Hogs

Surplus skim milk at creameries and city milk plants can be made into a concentrated product suitable for poultry and hog feeding, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Improved methods of souring and concentrating skim milk, developed by the bureau of dairy industry, make it possible to manufacture a product that will keep without spoiling, thus overcoming the chief difficulty experienced in the past in using skim milk in this way. The method is described in Department Circular 404-C, just issued and now ready for distribution.

Concentrated skim milk must have an acidity high enough to keep it from spoiling. The ordinary lactic bacteria in milk do not produce sufficient acidity for this purpose. In the new method a special culture which develops a high acidity is used. By this method the bureau has been able to develop an acidity in concentrated skim milk of 6 per cent, which is sufficient to keep the product indefinitely without appreciable change.

Many concerns are now making poultry and hog feed from skim milk concentrated by these improved methods. The product usually sells from 3 cents a pound at the factory when sold in car lots to 4 cents in small packages. No difficulty has been experienced in disposing of large quantities, either to poultrymen and hog raisers in the vicinity of the plant or to jobbers who specialize in poultry feeds. At an estimated production cost of 1.12 cents per pound for this product, a price of 2 cents at the factory would mean about 25 cents per hundred for skim milk and 4 cents for the return would be about 55 cents. As a means of disposing of surplus skim milk this product has certain advantages, says the Bureau of Dairy Industry. It is a staple product with an established market. It can be made at any season of the year and stored to supply a uniform demand, or it can be sold to jobbers whenever a sufficient quantity for shipment has accumulated.

Copies of the circular may be obtained, as long as the supply lasts, by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

AMUNDSON GIVES CAUSES OF FLOOD TROUBLES IN AREA
County Agent Describes High Water Situation in Surrounding Counties

BY ROBERT A. AMUNDSON
Outagamie-co Agricultural Agent
The following articles are prepared with the idea in mind of making available to those who are interested in the "Wolf river project" information on what has been done in the past ten years.

Much credit for keeping the issue alive and before the people and the government, is due to Allen H. Tripp of Oshkosh, president of the Association for Relief of High Water.

Only that part of the project within the county or as much of it as affects Outagamie-co will be discussed here. What takes place on Lake Winnebago as regards height of water has no effect on the flood condition at and above New London. From Lake Winnebago to New London the distance by river is 57 miles and the fall is 5.7 feet or one foot fall in 10 miles. Low water is three feet and high water goes up to twelve feet. From Shiocton to New London, a distance of 24 miles, the fall is 7 feet or 3 feet per mile. Thus in a distance of 81 miles the river falls only 12.7 feet. It is obvious that the water at New London or Shiocton could not be affected by raising or lowering Lake Winnebago a few feet sixty or eighty miles away.

The war department engineers state that the height of Lake Winnebago affects the river only as far back as Fremont.

CAUSES OF HIGH WATER
Causes for high water in Outagamie-co, or remedies for the condition, must therefore be sought elsewhere. Many persons who have studied water flow and flood conditions are of the opinion that the chief cause of floods here is the ruthless destruction of our timber in the north. The writer is of the same opinion. All of our Wisconsin rivers fall rapidly in the west and spread out as they come south.

Wherever the river flows in the north the rivers fall as much as 10 or 20 feet in a mile. The effect of devastating this area seems very plain, and the cause of high water quite obvious. Every time nature is disturbed or altered there is a reaction. Something is thrown out of balance with disastrous results some place along the line.

A farmer once killed a skunk that was preying on his chickens. After the skunk was gone, he soon commenced to lose small ducks in the pond. On investigation he found the pond to be literally alive with turtles. Since the skunk was gone, there was nothing to destroy the turtle eggs, and he suffered much trouble because of which proves the fundamental natural law upon which the forementioned hypothesis is based.

Some people will claim that the high water is due to obstruction in the river bed like railway and highway bridges, etc. Others claim that farmers further on the river have ditched and tilled their land to the detriment of the riparians further down. However, the opinions vary as to the cause; they all agree there is a real problem.

ACRES INVOLVED
It is estimated that 30,000 acres of land north of New London is affected by the Wolf river floods. Most of this is "bottom lands" along the Wolf, Shiocton and Embarras rivers. There is about the same area below New London affected in much the same way.

Between 1914 and 1925 seven floods on the Wolf reached a 9.7 foot gage at New London. Four of these were in April, two in June and one in March. According to war department records the highest flood occurred in April, 1888, when it reached 11.6 feet at New London. In April, 1922, it reached 11.4 feet. At that time the highest point reached at Keshona was 7.3 and a discharge of 4,390 second feet compared to 15,500 second feet at New London at the same time.

Protection from these "ordinary" floods which came about seven out of ten years and reach 8 to 9 feet at New London, is the problem that confronts the riparian farmers, and the cities and villages along the way. If the ordinary flood that reaches a

Washington—(P)—The number of cattle on feed for market in the 11 corn belt states was 7 per cent smaller Jan. 1 than a year ago, the department of agriculture announced Wednesday. The decrease was largely in states west of the Missouri river. It seems probable that the decreased number of cattle on feed will result in larger decreases in supplies of beef cattle during the first quarter of 1927 than during the second quarter of the report said. "The trend of cattle prices during the next two months, however, will affect considerably the distribution of markets."

The percentage of cattle on feed in the corn belt states on Jan. 1, as compared with a year ago, were: Ohio, 110 per cent; Indiana, 110; Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, 95, and Minnesota, 85.

SHORT TALKS BY THOUGHTFUL MOTHERS
An Ohio (Cleveland) mother says this "we prefer Foley's Honey and Tar Compound above all other cough remedies for our children because it contains no chloroform or harmful opiates and is not in the least constipating. It helps their coughs quickly and makes them comfortable when they have snuffles and feverish colds. Baby is subject to croup and it gives us a feeling of security to have Foley's Honey and Tar in the house."

STOCK IS ON DIET AS RANCH OWNERS HOLD FEED TESTS

Colorado College Gives Various Feeds in Special 90-day Demonstration

Fort Collins, Colo.—A 90-day feeding demonstration test for cattle and lambs is to be held this year to verify and make practical use of feeding principles worked out at Colorado and other experiment stations.

The tests are being conducted by the Colorado Agricultural college and experiment station in cooperation with local feeders.

Three groups of cattle in different districts of the state will be given feeds native to the district where each is located.

One group of cattle will be started on a ration of hay alone. During the last 30 days the cattle will be fed a ration of one-third barley and hay.

Another group will be divided into two lots. One lot will receive corn, cottonseed cake and prairie hay, while the second lot will be fed a ration of corn, cottonseed cake, bean hulls and prairie hay.

The third group will also be divided into two lots. The first will be started on a feed of native hay alone. During the last 30 days the ration will be changed to one-third full feed of barley and hay. The second will be fed a ration of barley and hay throughout the entire demonstration period.

In the lamb demonstrations the feeders will test out 10 different rations for fattening the animals. These rations are made up largely of sugar beet by-products which are available in the region.

It is planned to hold a "feeders' day" at each of the ranches where the tests are being conducted before the stock is marketed. The results of the tests will be given out and discussed.

Ranchmen will be able to make use of the results to gauge the feeding possibilities for their particular region.

GETS BETTER RESULTS
A 60 per cent reduction in amount of grain fed and an increase of a can and a half milk a day is a record made by Frank Jackson, northwestern farmer, when he started feeding his herd alfalfa.

height of 9.7 feet, can be reduced to 3.0 feet, it will reduce the volume of water 50 per cent and it is felt that this would benefit most of the now "marginal land" i. e., the highest of the flooded area.

STATE HAS SPECIAL FARM BOYS' STUDIES

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington, D. C.—Wisconsin and a number of other states have inaugurated special studies for older farm boys, the department of agriculture announced Thursday. Wisconsin during the past year organized forestry clubs for boys between the ages of 14 to 21.

After the farm boy has outgrown the smaller enterprises he enjoyed in his pig, corn, or calf club as a youngster, and before he has a farm of his own and can carry on adult farm demonstrations, he may get out of touch with progressive methods of agriculture, it was pointed out in the statement. It is this boy between the ages of 10 and 20 whom extension workers, cooperatively employed by the United States Department of Agriculture and the state colleges, are interesting in a program of better farming.

DAIRY EFFICIENCY
The butter production of Minnesota greatly increased during the past few years, principally due to dairy cows and creameries becoming more efficient.

POULTRY BREEDING
A good way to select breeders among the pullets and cockerels is to divide the flocks into three groups. The best group is kept for the production of chickens to be kept on the home place, the second group for the production of hatchling eggs or day-old chicks to be sold, and the third group not to be bred, according to specialists of the University of New Hampshire.

STOP BAD BREATH
People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects. Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaints with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 35c, 60c. All druggists.

ELECTRICITY MAY SOON BE SUPPLIED BY POWER OF WIND

Lincoln, Neb.—Wind power plants may soon come into general use in rural districts.

A 10-year study of wind velocity here shows the possibilities of such a plan.

The study shows that the wind is too light at times to operate a generator, but engineers believe that storage battery equipment will solve the problem.

Under average conditions five hours' charging every two or three days would be sufficient to keep the batteries in good condition.

WATER SUPPLY LOW
Reduction in water areas in states west of the Mississippi is causing tremendous mortality among wild fowl, says Dr. E. W. Nelson, chief of the United States Biological Survey. He says that the marshes that are drying up will be flooded at moderate expense, and be converted from earth traps into healthy resorts for birds.

NEW FASHIONS A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN BEAUTY HINTS

This Woman Bored By Tropics And Heat Stumbled On Craft That Has Proven A Goldmine To Her

BY VIRGINIA SWAIN
NEW YORK—Louise Brown, one of New York's most successful business women, owes her bank account, her three homes and international shows and her $100,000 net worth to a craft which she learned to make in the Philippines. Her hand-made lace, which she has been making for 16 years, has become a goldmine to her. During a trip to the islands, she found her husband bored by the tropics, the heat, the alligators, the crocodiles, the snakes, the mosquitoes, the flies, the dirt, the lack of civilization, the lack of culture, the lack of refinement, the lack of anything that she could call home. been handed down as heirlooms from standards before. I approached the mother to daughter, without the American market. The first trip back to New York was a time of tremendous hopes and fears for Mrs. Brown. But the fears were needless. America instantly approved her wares, and she found buyers waiting on her doorsteps for shipments. She returned to Manila, and began quantity manufacture, continually increasing her trade until embroidery became the fifth ranking industry of the Philippines.

Increasing her trade until embroidery became the fifth ranking industry of the Philippines. Competition during the war threatened the entire industry, but it weathered the storm. Today, ten thousand natives look to Mrs. Brown for a livelihood. Her initiative has brought clothes and food to Philippine families and schools for the children. WINS WITH WORK Today, her models are designed in France, embroidered in Manila, on material from the United States. Her business has grown so rapidly that she now spends most of her time traveling between New York and Paris and Manila, in each of which cities she maintains a home. Her sons and daughter are in a school near New York. "You can't go into business for amusement and succeed," she says. "It requires constant work and thought. I watch every detail of my business, designing new models, observing the American market, trying to keep ahead of the fashion. "In the meantime, I have found opportunities to chum with my son and daughter, to dabble with sculpture and to follow several sports. But during business hours, you'll find me in my office, working as hard as the least subject in my class. "And bridge? Now that I have a more substantial occupation for the daytime, I have learned to love it, and to hold my own, even in frequent games with such an expert as Elizabeth Hanna."

ARE YOU OFTEN LONELY?

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
NAPOLÉON said, "Circumstances? I make circumstances." I have a friend who is always talking about being a victim of circumstances. It is true, she is, to a certain extent, but following her biography one discovers that not now but always has this been her plight. She's allowed the status of life to buffet her hither and yon without the least attempt to become a good swimmer. I remember the remark of another woman about her one time. It was summer and she, the woman in question, had taken a cottage for her family near a resort where some of her friends were staying. A night after midnight she sat alone and dreary on her own rustic porch, hearing in the distance sounds of orchestra music and dancing. Out on the lake there was singing and laughter and the tip of oars under the moon. At first her friends invited her to little impromptu bridge parties and an occasional hop at the hotel. But after while they stopped. Her husband came to spend week ends, and through the day she was busy with the children. It was her evenings that were lonely.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin
After the coroner had failed to break down Cherry's story in even a minor point, a dozen witnesses were examined in rapid succession. The servants had nothing of importance to tell, or, if they had, they did not tell it. Their examination was a matter of form, and disposed of as rapidly as possible. It was nearly one o'clock when Chris Wiley's name was called, and the audience and jury were becoming restive under the pangs of hunger. "Guess we'd better save you until after lunch," Mr. Wiley. Dr. Murchison announced when Chris was about to be sworn. "Hearing will be resumed at two o'clock, which will give us all a chance to get a bit of lunch." Cherry and her new husband were taken by Marrel and Boyle, in plain clothes, to a downtown restaurant, while Faith and her father and Bob followed in Bob's car. "The thing we've got to face," Bob told Faith and her father, when their orders had been given, "is that your cousin is against Cherry. Her testimony makes it absurd to suspect Wiley." "But his car was within a few feet of the place where you saw those peculiar footprints," Faith cut in eagerly. "Cherry testified, and the testimony of the officer, corroborates her, that Chris parked his car within a few feet of the porte cochere, which starts just past Mr. Cluny's bedroom window. His car must have been right by that terrace below the window." "But he couldn't possibly have gotten out of the car, climbed up the pillars of the porte cochere, leaped to the drain pipe, climbed to the window and got the vase and killed Uncle Ralph while Cherry was speeding down the stairs. Besides, he had no motive—none in the world. That is, if Cherry is telling the truth," he lapsed into heavy-eyed brooding. "He did have a motive," Faith whispered, with an anxious look about her. "If Cherry ever told him about Mr. Cluny's will."

NEWS ABOUT WOMEN

DAME MELBA'S FAREWELL.
London—(AP)—Dame Nellie Melba, making her farewell appearance at "Old Vic" as "Nini" in the midst of the poignant death scene from "La Bohème" when she stopped and exclaimed: "This matinee! It is full of bumps and holes. Get another one please." Later the same day, she played the part of "Desdemona" in "Othello".

FIRST SPANISH CLUB
Madrid—(AP)—At the moment when the men's clubs of Spain displayed indications of decadence, women stepped to the front and founded the first women's club ever established in this country, the Spanish Feminine Lycée Club. There were 150 charter members, the majority of which are Spanish, notable writers, sociological experts, musical composers, educators, physicians, surgeons and representatives of every kind of activity. Modern ideas are prevalent among the members but conservatism is supreme in the clubhouse. No woman has yet been seen smoking there, although there are no rules to prevent it.

PAVLOVA VS. CHARLESTON
Berlin—(AP)—Anna Pavlova hasn't much to say, one for the Charleston. Talking to an interviewer here on a variety of subjects the great dancer emphasized almost more than anything else her dislike for this form of dancing. "The Charleston? Pooh!" she said. "It's just business, you know. I don't know how many thousands of dancing teachers. They get up congresses and set the vogue for such dances as they think will help their business most. Hence the Charleston." A little more emphatic, perhaps, was her repudiation of the bobbed-hair craze. "The greatest piece of stupidity of the day by the demands of her social work. Mothering other people's children has long been one of her activities, although she has four children of her own—three sons and a daughter. She is now a grandmother.

"WHY DO YOU ROLL THOSE EYES?" NINON SUGGESTS IT FOR BEAUTIFIER

BY NINON
GLAMOROUS French actress used to sing a song about her inability to make her eyes beautiful. As she warbled her difficulties in preserving discipline these same orbs rolled and roved most charmingly so that everyone who saw her was delighted that her particular eyes did not fall in with the conventional idea of what the well-bred eye should do. And if they had behaved, they would not have been nearly so beautiful or devastating, and the actress might not have captivated so many hearts. For the more you work your eyes and strengthen the muscles, the more capable of expression they become, just as the more you play tennis the more the muscles of your arms develop and harden. EQUINE OPTICS From wearing blinders a horse gets so in the habit of looking straight ahead that he has to turn his head to see what goes on immediately out of his straight line of vision. And unless you exercise your eyes, they get as stereotyped an expression as the horse—except that it is less attractive in a human than in a horse. The whole beauty of human eyes lies not in their shape or color but their expression. Eyes that register, that change their meaning with every passing emotion are the ones we admire. By stealing a glance out of the corner of her eye at an auspicious moment, woman has wrecked empires. So, if you want beautiful eyes, use them. Make them work. Train them on the following exercises. First look straight ahead in your most intent and concentrated fashion; then, without moving your head a hair's breadth, look left, then down, then right, then up. Still without moving your head look as far to the right and then to the left as you can. Close and then them before you take up your next bout. REST THEM FREQUENTLY Combine these exercises into one by looking first to the left, then up, then down, then to the right—all with your head rigid and immovable. By this time, your eyes will have earned a rest and it will be advisable to close them for a few minutes. To keep the wrinkles and crow's feet away from your eyes, you must not strain them by reading or working too long in one position. Rest them frequently—incidentally get enough sleep and avoid late hours. If you will gently massage the muscles around your eyes a few minutes each evening you will find that very relaxing and restful. If you are tired and want to brighten your eyes, lie down, close your eyes and apply alternately pads wrung from ice water and from warm water. Hold each over the lids until you are no longer conscious of the heat or cold. It is not advisable to use moist washes or fluids in your eyes unless a doctor has ordered them, but botanic acid, diluted with pure filtered water, is universally recommended.

IF YOU WANT BEAUTIFUL EYES USE THEM.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Breakfast—Canned cherries, cereal, thin cream, creamed spinach, haddock, crisp rice toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Nut loaf with celery sauce, lettuce sandwiches, pineapple Charlotte, milk, tea.
Dinner—Boiled mutton, boiled potatoes in parsley butter, creamed turnips, French cadive with French dressing, ginger pudding, graham rolls, milk, coffee.
Keep in mind that "made" dishes are not as easily digested as plain, trace of anything made at all. However, these dishes involving mixtures are often justifiable since they add variety to the menu and are a means toward economy. The nut loaf suggested in the luncheon menu is one of these concoctions. If small children must be provided for, a poached egg might be served on toast with some of the celery sauce.
PINEAPPLE CHARLOTTE: One tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1/2 cup boiling water, 2 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup grated pineapple, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup whipping cream, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla, few grains salt, stale sponge cake or lady fingers.
Soften gelatine in cold water for ten minutes. Add boiling water and stir over hot water until dissolved. Bring pineapple and sugar to the boiling point. Remove from fire, add lemon juice and dissolved gelatine. Let stand until cool and beginning to "set." Whip cream until firm. Stir in vanilla, sugar and salt. Fold into gelatine mixture. Turn into a mold lined with thin slices of stale sponge cake or split lady fingers. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

THE ice hut was a dark, dark place. The Tinymites couldn't see a trace of anything inside at all, because it was so black. Then Scouty whispered, very low, "I think we'd better travel slow. In fact, I guess that I am scared. Perhaps we'd best turn back." "Oh, no," said Coppy, at his side. "We're safer here. 'Cause we can surely know by now. Just all keep hide. If anybody else were here, we'd still. Give no alarm, and we are far from any harm. There's no use crawling out again. We'd likely start a row." And then the Tinymites all found twice rather comfy on the ground, so down they sat to wait until the coming of the morn. Sad Scouty, "When it's light again, we'll hop right up, run out and then I think we'll find old Clowzy, just as sure as we are born." For pouts you couldn't hear them peep, for they were tired and fast asleep. But when the sun arose next day, they scampered out in front. "Sad Coppy," "Now we'll rush and what time we can, and all be brave. I know we'll soon see Clowzy if we all join in the hunt." Across the ice and snow they went. About an hour or so was spent, and then was Carpy whispered low, "All stop, and do not stir." No sooner was the warning said than all the Tinymites looked ahead to see a funny fellow who was all dressed up in fur. The man approached the little band with something squirming in his hand. He seemed to smile quite friendly so the crowd thought him all right. "I am your friend," said he. "What's more, is this what you are looking for?" And then they noticed in his hand was Clowzy Tinymite. (The Tinymites ride a polar bear in the next story.)

LIGHTERS OF SNAKESKIN MAKE SPLENDID GIFT

Cigarette smoking among women has become so universal that we now find each woman carrying her own lighter. Little lighters of snakeskin with gold-plated tops are among the smartest. Lighters shaped like hip flasks and enamel are also favorites for carrying in the handbag. Still smaller than these are lighters shaped like cigarettes with gold tips and white body portions. These are the exact size of a cigarette and sell for 25 cents in cigar stores. EVENING CORSAGES Chrysanthemums have been the heralded flowers of the winter season. Everyone is wearing them, it seems. Among the newer costume corsages are chrysanthemums made of velvet in rose-pink-like effect.

Everything corsages often have the ends of the petals coated with silver or gilt, adding a novel effect in conformity with the glittering evening mode. White or natural colored violets with petals dipped in silver gilt are quite effective. These are often worn on the shoulder of the white or green gown to add a color contrast. White flowers that are tinclipped as to petals are worn on dark as well as light-colored gowns. GOLD CLOTH COATS Gold cloth coats made on straight lines with wide Dolman sleeves and collared and cuffs in white fox, ermine, gold fox or sable are among the smartest of wraps for evening. Right at these gold wraps were counted at the Metropolitan Opera last evening. Velvet wraps are all ready lessening in number and they are being replaced by wraps of white ermine, sable, gold cloth, metallic brocade and beaded metallic cloth. Occasionally we see a beaded velvet coat on bloused lines. Jade will be one of the outstanding colors of the early spring season. This shade is already well launched in Paris. Small hats of jade felt are among the newest Parisian millinery notes. Jade jewelry is worn a great deal, and those going south for the winter are including jade hats, frocks, handbags and shoes in their wardrobe. White gowns heavily beaded in rhinestones and crystals are conspicuous wherever smart women gather at evening. Slender lines are followed with flowing motion on the skirt provided by means of fringes or floating panels. Railway passenger fares in Belgium will be raised ten per cent on January 15. This is the second raise within three months.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and get more than your money's worth.

You've probably heard of this famous home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. It tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat ickles, hoarseness, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable gualacol, which has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSLITTLE CHUTERS
FORCE SMITHMEN
TO STEP FOR WIN

Kaukauna Wins 16 to 13 but Trails Visitors in Last Period

Kaukauna—Two Kaukauna basketball teams won games from outside opponents in a double header at the auditorium Wednesday evening. Kaukauna High school just managed to nose out a 16 to 13 win over the surprisingly strong Little Chute High school team and the Kaukauna Twenty-five club defeated the O. K. Taxis of Appleton 17 to 12.

A little team came down from Little Chute Wednesday evening and played rings around the Orange and Elsie. Seated precisely all through the first half. The game was a complete surprise. Little Chute performed creditably and instead of Kaukauna running away with the game the Kaukauna nearly lost it. Only in the last quarter did the Smithmen pick up their heads and with a rousing rally dropped the Chuters into the rear. Up to this rally it looked as though Little Chute might win from its larger opponents. McFadden was easily the star for Kaukauna. "Mac" shot four baskets besides playing a great floor game. Esler did some fine dribbling and was the fastest Kaukauna man on the floor. G. and R. Verstegen, midget forwards for Little Chute, got a good floor game. The midget R. Verstegen got five of Little Chute's points. Vandenberg played a nice game at center for the invaders.

At the opening of the first period Coach William Smith sent a complete by changed lineup into the game. Elsie was at center, McFadden at right forward, Farwell at the forward, Macrorie at right guard, and Miller at the other guard.

From the first few minutes of the game it was evident that the new combination would not work. R. Verstegen scored for the Chuters in the first couple of minutes, putting Little Chute into the lead. The Orange and Elsie fought hard but Little Chute had the advantage and was making most of the tries for baskets. A minute later McFadden tied the score with a basket from the free throw line. Vandenberg and H. Verstegen made free throws during the first period for Little Chute and Elsie made one for the Orange and Elsie. The first period ended 4 and 2 in favor of Little Chute. Little Chute still had the advantage in the second period although Kaukauna managed to score more points. The Chuters played a nice floor game and by clever playing managed to get through Kaukauna's five man defense. Coach Smith substituted many players and finally hit upon a free throw during the second period and Esler tossed another free throw. Vandenberg shot a basket and R. Verstegen made a free throw.

Kaukauna made a spurt in the last half and Elsie started the scoring by tossing a free throw. Vandenberg duplicated the performance. In the final period H. Verstegen dropped a basket to tie the count at 10 all. Kaukauna's mettle was up and Macrorie and Esler netted baskets in quick succession. Vandenberg was taken out on four personals thus weakening the Hollanders' defense. Esler scored another basket towards the close of the half and R. Verstegen made one for Little Chute.

It is almost impossible for anyone to escape having food stains on clothing at some time or other. What would you do if you upset the ink bottle on an expensive table cover, medicine on your best suit, ruined a gown with paint stains, or scorched the newest linen tablecloth?

All of these things happen every day. But there is a remedy for every bluish you may get on your clothing and household linens.

These are all listed in a 36-page booklet with illustrations which this Bureau has for distribution. Fill out the attached coupon and enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling. Write your name and address clearly.

Can't Eat
Acid Foods,
Too Much Gas

"I suffered from gas and acid stomach and could not eat anything that contained acid. Since taking Adlerika I feel fine."—James Fest.

Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never thought was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. In Appleton at Voigt's Drug Store, & other Druggists.

Makes A Special Trip To Tell
Dreco Man Of Great Benefits

Well-known local builder suffered so he used to have to get up in the middle of the night to walk the floor.

We don't say that Dreco will snatch you from the grave, that chronic, incurable diseases are wiped out by Dreco but we do say that if the vital organs are sluggish, slightly deranged, your system clogged with waste matter or you need a good bracing tonic, Dreco will do the work. Ask the Dreco Experts at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store about it.

"I have the highest praise for Dreco for it relieved me of suffering that was just dragging me down and down," Dr. West Winnebago St. a building contractor who is known all over Appleton, Mr. Bensch made a special trip to Schlitz Bros. Drug Store just to tell the Dreco man how much better he was feeling since taking Dreco.

"I had been ailing for over a year when a friend of mine, Mr. Draz, recommended Dreco. I was losing weight fast, was nervous from loss of sleep and appetite and suffered so with my stomach I didn't know what to do. Often I'd wake up in the middle of the night with violent cramps in my stomach and would have to get out of bed and walk the floor for hours. Nothing would bring me relief. Gas formed, causing my heart to flutter and making me so short of breath I was very frightened.

"I've only been taking Dreco for a week but the results have been so great. I just have to tell about it. I haven't suffered with the cramps or gas once since taking Dreco and am beginning to feel more like my old self again. I'm gaining in weight, have a good appetite and sleep soundly all night long. I owe a lot to Dreco and am glad to recommend it to everyone."

Mr. H. W. C. Marr Baker, the well-known expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schlitz Bros. Downtown Drug Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him.

BENNIE OOSTERBAAN WILL RIVAL KIPKE AT MICHIGAN

Both Athletic Heroes Win Nine Letters In Three Major Fields

Football, Basketball, Baseball Glorified by Feats of Two Stars

Ann Arbor, Mich., (P)—Bennie Oosterbaan is on his way to a place beside Harry Kipke in the limited line of athletes who have won nine letters for athletic excellence.

Kipke was the last Michigan man to star for three years in three sports. Like Oosterbaan, he was an All-American. Like Oosterbaan, too, he was chosen captain of the Wolverine varsity during his senior year.

Kipke and Oosterbaan earned their letters in the same sports—football, basketball and baseball. Despite the fact that they favored the same branches of athletics, they played different positions in each.

In football Kipke was the triple threat back, noted particularly for his punting. In basketball he generally played at forward position. He was an outfielder on the baseball team.

Oosterbaan, considerably taller than Kipke, has been an end in football ever since his earliest days of competition at Muskegon high school. His height makes him valuable at center on the basketball court. Baseball knows him as a first baseman.

Oosterbaan already has two letters in football, and one each in basketball and baseball. He is on his way to his fifth letter now as a member of the varsity.

Every team on which Oosterbaan has played has won or tied for a Big Ten championship.

SPECTACULAR WORK
Both Kipke and Oosterbaan have spectacular chapters in their Michigan athletic careers. It was Oosterbaan's recovery of a Minnesota fumble and his long dash for a touchdown that gave Michigan a share in the Conference championship.

Kipke's most thrilling exploit and his last in a Michigan uniform, was made on the baseball diamond. It was the final game of the year, marking Kipke's passing from a college career. The bats were silent. Kipke came to bat and hit a homerun.

Misinformation was the source of the story in Wednesday evening's Post-Crescent in which it was stated that the Kaukauna Y. M. C. A. cagers had forfeited a game in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial League to the Galpin Hardware. The story was a hoax and the Galpins had failed to put in an appearance and the forfeit was on the other side.

The change gives the Fox River team second place alone, placing the Galpins in third position. The Kawmen advanced to a triple tie for fourth with the Citizens Bank and Coated Paper Co. teams as a result of the forfeit after being in sixth position.

Badgers Hope To Boost Cage Mark With Purple

Madison—With two fresh scalps hanging from its conference belt, Wisconsin has settled down to attack another trophy to its band. Friday night when it enters the Purple Wildcat arena here in the Armory.

Wisconsin blasted Northwestern Saturday evening, 25 to 15, and then closed a three-day tourney by crushing Chicago's hopes at the Midway in an overtime battle, 32 to 30.

While the Badgers were fighting uphill to defeat Chicago, Northwestern was clawed by the Hoovers at Bloomington, 24 to 24. The Wildcats held Indiana at bay in the first half in excellent fashion, but weakened under the powerful Hoovers' advance later in the game.

Breeding under a series of conference defeats, Northwestern will come here with pent-up determination to avenge the Badger whipping and also to make its niche in the win column of Big Ten standings.

However, intent the Wildcats will be on Saturday, they will have to keep constant vigil over Andrews and Behr, Badger forwards, and Kowalevsky, center. Coach Meenwell's trio of scoring aces.

Northwestern's only hope will come in its ability to drop rangy shots,

PHIL ZWICK ASKS POSTPONEMENT OF BATTLE FOR WEEK

Kaukauna Battler Wants to Get in Better Shape for Toughest Fight

Phil Zwick, who was matched to box Snice Aguilado at Armory G. Friday has asked the matchmaker to postpone the fight at least a week or two days in order to get in better shape. Knowing this is the toughest fellow he has been asked to meet yet, he wants all his friends in the Fox River valley to know that he will be on the winning end. He has promised a return match with Johnny Hill, the Filipino who has just received a decision over Joey Sanger in Milwaukee.

The matchmaker wished to announce also that Fred Rudney, who made such a hit in Green Bay at the last show, will also be on the card, and Young Shaw and Kid Beals of Oshkosh will be there swinging the leather and numerous other fighters.

The date of the show will be announced in a few days.

Rockford Pair Leaders In Card Score Column

Madison—(P)—The flashy basketball player from Rockford, Ill., lead the Wisconsin cage squad in the number of points scored so far this season against the Western Conference opponents. And one of them is the mid of the Big Ten.

Charley Andrews, a slight youth who peers up at most of his opponents, has collected 26 points, all but six being field goals, while Lou Merkel and Bar-num both have fouled eight times while defending the Badger net.

Behr, home town mate of Andrews, has the same number of points to his credit although he has garnered two more points via the free throw route.

Henry Kowalevsky of Ft. Wayne, Ind., follows next in line, among the Badger cagers, with 22 points, his baskets in the Northwestern game being his high mark.

With a record of three games won and a single defeat, the Badgers have made a total of 109 points against their opponents. The Northwestern non-conference games included the number would be boosted considerably in favor of the locals.

Charley Merkel of Chicago, captain of the team, trails Kowalevsky with 18 points, made from a floor guard position. Rolie Barnum, of Madison,

RIPON CAPTAIN

"DADDY" HAUSER
Special to Post-Crescent
Ripon—Arthur, "Daddy," Hauser, Monroe, captains the Ripon cage quint which so far has shown the greatest state championship possibilities in a student generation.

Hauser, a running guard noted for his zigzag dodging methods, leads a squad of veterans, only one player of which has never had intercollegiate experience. The Ripon quint bats 1000 in the Wisconsin-Illinois conference, and has won 75 per cent of its games. Lawrence, Carroll, Knox, Dehler and Oshkosh are still slated for contests.

The Ripon captain is the only student in college with four letters in each of two groups. He was grid captain in 1925, and finished his four years at tackle in November.

SHIPS MUST WHIP ORANGEMEN TO COP VALLEY LOOP FLAG

Manitowoc Sport Scribe Says Loss Friday Will Mean Loss of Title

Just how important Manitowoc high school feels Friday evening's game with Coach Joseph Shields' Orangemen to be, and how determined the Red Devils are to win is shown by comments in the column written by the sport editor of the Manitowoc paper. The Ships base their entire value title hopes on the clash and hope to pull the Orange off the top. Here's the dope:

Manitowoc, to win the Fox River Valley title, must win Friday's game. Defeat means that the championship will not remain in Manitowoc hands with the close of the season, and if the Red and White does not win it this year, it never will. The teams are strong, equally so, relying on short passing, speed and close range shooting for the most part. In the lineups of the two teams is to be found a collection of stars such as has not been seen and will not be seen again for some years to come and the game Friday will be a battle of the "valley giants" to speak.

"The smart basketball fan that has his mind set upon seeing Friday night's game is going to take his supper to work with him, make all haste for the high school gym after work and eat his lunch while waiting for the doors to open. From all appearances at least 2,000 fans are going to crowd in to the gymnasium for admission, and in that case, some 300 or more are going to be keenly disappointed for the big gym, when packed to capacity will hold far more than 1,750 people. The plan instituted early in the season whereby some 400 or more seats were to be reserved, has been abandoned and every one of the 1,400 seats in the gym will be labeled "rush" Friday night.

Manitowoc's scoring game is centered on three-quarter back, led by Gary Brennan and including Peppard, all-state guard, and Fishbeck, one of the classic forwards in the conference. Appleton's chances lie in the work of Lutz, Steinberg and Strutz, a trio of basket sounds that mustered enough points to defeat the Orangemen at Sheboygan by a score of 27 to 25 though the Chairmaker leader, annexed 14 points in the game. While the Red and White offensive ability is more or less divided between three men, the Orange scoring ability lies for the most part with Lutz.

Walsh Co. Bowlers
WIN FROM SPECIALS

George Walsh Co. bowlers took two games of a match with the Ziliske Specials Tuesday evening on the Elk alleys, winning by 118 maples. The Clothiers piled up a 36-pin lead in the opener and 32 more in the second before losing the final by 7 sticks.

High game of the match was rolled by G. Verway of the losers, who had a 210, and his 552 also was high series. For the winners C. Retza lead with a 192 game and a 508 series. Another 200 score went to C. Looper of the losers with a 207.

Broken Threads

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOL LIE ELWELL in Camdensville, Ind., one night in October, 1908, comes MARTHA DALTON, a nurse, bearing a woman who had fainted on a train.

Elwell is an artist. He has a son, JIM, aged 5. Late that night the woman bears twin girls and dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins, now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They have been nicknamed RUSTY and BETTY.

Jim Elwell enlists in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

Put in charge of a machine gun unit at Sedan, he is shell-shocked and, through a mixup, is registered as JOHN POWELL, a buddy of his. He is removed to an American hospital and reported dead. The family gets the news and is heartbroken.

One day an attorney calls at the house, with proof that the father of the twins is dead and they are the heirs of a wealthy resident of Indianapolis. He offers to accompany the girls to their uncle's.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

John Clayton, the new-found uncle of the twins, found a reverent source of enjoyment in Mollie Elwell. Her wholesome unaffectedness, her natural ways and her kind, unassuming manner, were to him a revelation of the social set to which he belonged. He made a strong appeal to his finely developed nature.

Not only was John Clayton a student of his kind but he was a master student. To find a new and pleasing personality was to him a treat as rich in value as the finding of a new species of moth is to the naturalist. In Mollie Elwell, he kept telling himself, he had discovered something he had seldom encountered in the ranks of the thing that is called Society—a woman with a brain that functioned along the lines of common sense and with a nature that radiated unselfishness and sweetness. A rare "female of the species" to John Clayton.

The girls and Prof also proved objects of interest and pleasure to him. And so at the end of their first week's visit, when Mollie began to talk about returning to Camdensville, he simply wouldn't hear of it.

Not for another week at the very earliest, he told them with much emphasis one morning at the breakfast table when she had again introduced the subject. "In the meantime I want you to meet a few of our society buds and blossoms, as well as a sprout or two and a couple of withering twigs."

"I would be worth their while but could assure them, if they were interested in observing a new phenomenon."

"I'm arranging a little party in honor of the girls and we'll have in quite a lot of young people to meet them. You wouldn't want to be absent from your adopted daughters' coming out party, you know."

And so Mollie and Prof Elwell thus urged and, in addition, virtually smothered by the protestations and wheedlings of the twins, assented.

Along one day with Mollie — they upon herself to switch the handicap of "talented" to "handsome."

"And right away Freddie went out and bought himself a new vanity set and started in to teach the prettiest ones how to register the Divine Thrill. Really, girls you must become better acquainted with Freddie Lawrence."

"I don't think," Rusty whispered — for they were standing not far away from one under discussion — "I don't think I'm going to like him."

Clayton laughed. "Oh, you mustn't say that, my dear. Nature doesn't very often turn out a Freddie Lawrence. He is rare." And he moved away.

Following the dinner the guests and their host gathered in the drawing room, and Betty, through some whim of conversation, mentioned to her uncle, in the hearing of Freddie Lawrence, that it had been her ambition at one time to become a movie star.

Freddie yipped delightedly. "Oh, you don't mean it, Miss Marvin! I should love to give you a few pointers and then see how you register for the camera."

John Clayton grinned and bestowed on Betty an indulgent look. "Why," he suggested, "don't you take him up?"

"Freddie," piped up a sweet young thing in red, "is the one grand little instructor in registration. If that's the word! You can take it from me, that's just what with a significant emphasis and a slow wink at the twins."

Freddie withered her with a chilling look, and then turned to Betty.

"What do you say, Miss Marvin?" he asked eagerly, with a languishing look into her eyes. "Wouldn't you like to find out if you have moving picture possibilities?"

The sweet young thing in red shouted, "Come here, everybody! Freddie's got a new pupil!" and clapped her hands.

Betty looked again at her uncle and reading encouragement in his quick look and nod, assented. "I might take one lesson to see if I could qualify."

"Fine," the young genius exclaimed with large enthusiasm. "I can already visualize you as a coming star of the silver screen."

A languid looking youth named Phillips volunteered his help. He began to push the chairs. "And what," he asked, "are you going to name the picture, Freddie? From Switchboard to Fame?"

Freddie ignored him. "Now," he said to Betty when he had his stage all set to suit himself, "just imagine that the audience here represents the camera's eye. But you must forget, you know, that the camera has an eye, although you've got to remember that every little movement you make has a meaning of its own when projected on the screen."

"Why, Freddie, you don't say," exclaimed Phillips. "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning All Its Own," he hummed.

Very carefully Freddie Lawrence adjusted the slant of Betty's chin, with the most painstaking attention elevation and position.

"There," he announced finally when he had everything just right and himself properly focused in the "camera's eye." "Now we get ready for action. And don't forget to register. We will suppose, for instance, that you have just got word that someone who is dear to you has died. Remember now, to portray deep feeling. You've got to act, you know; make it realistic. All set? All right, ready for action now?"

Betty's eyes suddenly clouded with pain, and Mollie and Rusty, who were looking on both winced.

"Marvelous!" exclaimed Freddie Lawrence.

Mollie, who was standing close to Prof and John Clayton, watched the ridiculous performance with fast-growing nervousness.

"For goodness sake," Mollie exclaimed as Freddie, with his left arm across Betty's shoulder and his right hand tilting her chin, bent his face closer to his pupil's. "I hope Betty isn't going to let that man kiss her!"

"I don't think you need worry," advised John Clayton, although his eyes were now narrowed with displeasure at the scene before them. "The young whippersnapper!" he whispered to Prof. "That Freddie is going to get something administered to him pretty quick that will jar him."

"Ready for action now," repeated Freddie, beginning to bend his head. "This is the big scene." Across his face had spread a smug grin.

"Camera!" he shouted.

Rusty, looking on with eyes that were now frankly disapproving, clenched her fists and started forward.

And then, just at the psychological moment for the amateur director, something slipped.

In the next chapter the Elwells get thrilling news from the war office.

PRINCIPALS GIVEN STUDY COURSES IN CITY HIGH SCHOOLS

Outline Manual Arts Study Programs for Junior Schools

An outline for the course of study in manual arts work was outlined at the weekly meeting of principals of the junior and senior high schools with Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, Tuesday morning. Seventh and eighth grade students will take three general fields in the subject and the ninth grade two fields.

Elements of handwriting, mechanical drawing, and elements of metal work will be studied in the seventh grade, and printing or art and design element and clay products, and home mechanics in the eighth. Art and design was instituted for the McKinley junior high school boys as there is no printing apparatus in the building. A choice of two or three subjects for the ninth grade will be given: Paper making; architecture including architectural drawing, building construction and sheet metal; and printing.

Frank P. Younger, principal of McKinley junior high school, will assist Mr. Rohan in supervision of the grades, it was announced. He will work particularly with the presentation of arithmetic in the schools. The results of the Woody McCall Mixed Fundamentals arithmetic tests given to 32 grades in December were announced. Only three of the grades fell below the medium, the others being above and some well above the average. Six out of 100 pupils were below the standard, it was found.

Art work will be taught in the senior high school instead of the junior schools by Miss Dorothy Krippner, art supervisor in the public schools, during the second semester, it was decided. So little time is possible at each of the three junior high schools, it was thought better to give more concentrated instruction to a smaller group. Miss Krippner's research work in art will be presented to social science pupils in the junior high schools by the teachers in the second semester.

The teachers' party given by the board of education, in conjunction with the Appleton Womens club and the Knights of Pythias lodge, Friday evening Jan. 28, was announced to the principals.

Mrs. J. A. Panneck, 217 W. College-ave, left for Los Angeles, Calif., where she will spend the winter with her sister.

HARWOOD WILL ATTEND MIDWEST C. OF C. MEET

F. J. Harwood will be one of the representatives of Appleton Chamber of Commerce at the midyear meeting of the North Central Division of the United States Chamber of Commerce in Chicago, Thursday and Friday, according to Hugh G. Corbett, secretary.

Mother! Now You Know How To Help Your Puny, Weak Child

It's Your Duty to Aid Him To Grow Strong, Active and Sound in Body and Mind.

That little boy or girl of yours—that doesn't weigh enough—that isn't strong—has no appetite—lacks vigor and is perhaps backward, listless and timid.

What are you going to do with him? Have you ever heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets sugar coated and as easy for all children to take as candy?

Every druggist in America sells them—60 tablets, 60 cents—and the supremely good combination of upbuilding agents surely does help the sickly, run down, puny, frail little ones. No need to give him any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—McCoy's Tablets, rich in vitamins, are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine, and they surely do.

Try them as directed for 30 days, mother; and if at the end of that time you are not delighted with the improvement in your dear little one, get your money back.

You can get them at Schlitz Bros. or any druggist and remember, too, they are fine for thin, run down, underweight men and women who need more flesh, strength, vigor and vitality. Demand McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Unsightly Skin Eruptions Gone In Three Days

These bad looking red eruptions of the skin that humiliate you and keep you from social gatherings—what are you going to do about them?

If you are wise and want to get rid of them so quickly that you will be astonished you'll get a 25 cent box of Peterson's Ointment today and let its mighty healing power make you joyfully happy in just a few days.

You'll praise it to your friends ever after, for it surely does heal and leaves the skin clear, healthy and good to look upon.

And here's something more that a multitude of Peterson's Ointment friends know—make a note of it.

This good old remedy is just as healing for eczema, pimples, rashes, ulcers and even the most stubborn piles as it is for the skin eruptions and if you doubt it ask any broad minded druggist.

Keep it in the house for burns and scalds, bruises, scratches, itching scalp, chafing, burning feet and like ailments.

"The Overcoat is in there just the same!"

by G. J. SCHWAB Manager

THEY used to tell a story about a new salesman turning in his first expense account. One of the items set down was an overcoat, at $40.

"Here!" cried the sales manager, "this won't do. We're not buying overcoats for salesmen. Take this statement back and make it out right."

Presently the salesman returned with the revised statement. His chief glanced at it. "Fine! That's the stuff," he said.

"It is, eh" replied the other, with evident satisfaction. "Well, the overcoat is in there just the same!"

If you had been in the tire business as long as we have, you would realize that in some ways a tire dealer's list prices and a liberal expense account are much alike. Both can be padded as much as necessary. So all this talk about "discounts" and "long trades" doesn't mean a thing.

A different selling policy

We could hand you that come-hither stuff, too, if we liked. All we'd have to do would be to stock a long-profit line of tires and play the old army game.

You know how it's done. Simply push up the retail prices to suit the occasion and then "discount" and "long trade" you to your heart's content.

100 SPECIALS
29 x 4.40	$ 6.30
33 x 6.00	$11.30
30 x 3 1/2 Clincher
All-Weather Cord	$9.35
Seconds

But we operate on a different policy. We've had the idea for a long time that the majority of sensible people would like to buy tires as they buy anything else—on a legitimate, aboveboard basis.

We think they prefer to purchase nationally known tires of established quality, at fair and frank prices, from a concern that has some standing in the community.

A popular policy, too

Maybe we're wrong. But our sales records say different. We figure we're the oldest tire dealers in the Fox River Valley and our business has increased every single year since we started.

Right now, we have by far the biggest stock of tires in Appleton. Goodyear Tires, too—so superior in quality that more people ride on them than on any other kind.

If you're tired of being kidded about low-cost mileage, and really want to get it, let us fix you up now with a set of new Goodyears.

Quality considered, they're the lowest-cost equipment you can buy, and you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that no one gets a better tire or better price than you do.

As for all that "special deal" and "discount" and "long trade" line of taffy, don't be stampeded.

You know — "the overcoat is in there just the same!"

DELCOL BENZOL (gasoline's successor) is the most satisfactory winter motor fuel you can use because it overcomes to a great degree the normal handicaps of cold-weather driving.

Delcol Benzol starts instantly even in zero weather. Saves your time, temper, starter, motor and battery.

Delcol Benzol prevents crankcase dilution because it requires only a minimum amount of "choke" in getting started and none after the motor is running. Protection for bearings, pistons and cylinders; saves oil and fuel.

Delcol Benzol combines the best qualities of high test gasoline with the economy, greater power, and anti-knock performance of benzol. You get more miles per gallon, no knock even on hills, hardly any carbon and smoother power delivery.

Delcol Benzol is able to do what gasoline can't simply because this better motor fuel is a scientific blend of high-test gasoline and purest benzol. It combines the advantages of both without the disadvantages of either.

Empty your tank completely of gasoline and fill up with Delcol Benzol. Only in this way can you gain a full appreciation of Benzol's superior performance.

BOOSTERS DEFEAT TWO RIVERS FIVE AT NEW LONDON, 43-31

Visitors Fail to Follow Shots in Fast Game Wednesday Evening

Special to Post-Crescent.

New London — The New London Boosters won their third consecutive basketball victory on the home floor when they defeated the Two Rivers team 43 to 31 Wednesday evening. Two Rivers was decidedly off color. When throwing for the basket the team neglected to follow up its shots. New London, on the other hand, had one or more men under the basket on each shot. Madsen and Algoe hit the basket from all angles. Much broke up the visitors' offensive play and dribbled all over the floor.

The first quarter opened with Madsen shooting from the center of the floor. On the next tip off Much secured the ball and dribbled the entire length of the floor to make a basket. The first quarter ended with New London leading 11 to 4.

In the second quarter Madsen and Algoe went wild. Larry Yost kept feeding the ball to either Madsen or Algoe and they made their baskets from all angles. The half ended with New London leading 21 to 12.

In the second half Algoe ran his total of baskets to seven with three free throws, the only points New London scored in this manner. Much made his second basket of the evening and Madsen counted 8.

CONSIDER POSTAL BUILDINGS FOR 3 CITIES NEAR HERE

Waupaca, New London and Clintonville May Share in $300,000,000 Fund

BY BASCOM N. TIMMONS

Washington, D. C. — A movement was on in Congress today to raise $300,000,000 the amount to be spent for public buildings.

Meanwhile it was certain that the $100,000,000 already authorized by Congress for new buildings will be increased to $200,000,000.

Out of the $200,000,000 is to come new buildings or additions at Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Appleton, Oshkosh, Beloit, LaCrosse, Wausau, Waupun and Marshfield.

Treasury and Post Office Department officials on surveying the country found an unbelievably bad situation as to federal public buildings. Due to the fact that the government has done no building since 1912.

If the authorization for the next five years can be brought to $300,000,000 it was said at the Postoffice Department today that consideration would be given to improvements at Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Fond du Lac, Janesville and one or two other towns and that the following twenty-seven Wisconsin towns will be considered for new buildings: Two Rivers, Wisconsin Rapids, Menasha, South Milwaukee, West Bend, Oconomowoc, Kohler, Port Washington, Plymouth, Monroe, Berlin, Portage, New London, Stoughton, Wausau, Waupun, Whitewater, Cudahy, Elkhorn, Hartford, Rice Lake, Clintonville, Ladysmith, Lake Geneva, Kewaunee, Shawano, Sturgeon Bay, and Waupaca.

INITIATIVE BILL AGAIN IS BEFORE STATE LAWMAKERS

Constitutional Change Up to People If Resolution Is Adopted Again

Madison—(P)—The initiative and referendum proposal may soon be submitted to the voters of the state. The second joint resolution, necessary to presenting the constitutional amendment to the electorate was presented in the assembly at Wednesday's session. Under the law such a proposal must be passed by two sessions of the legislature and vetoed by the people before the constitution is altered.

The 1925 session passed an identical resolution. The present joint resolution introduced by A. C. Hess, of Madison, was referred to the revision committee of the assembly and will then be referred to its proper committee.

Mr. Hess also was author of two joint resolutions asking joint committees to investigate forestry and water power.

Each committee would be composed of two senators and three assemblymen. The forestry committee would look into the entire status of forests in Wisconsin, and recommend measures regarding forest taxation, reforestation and forest fire control.

The water power committee would report on the general use of water power by Wisconsin industries and make recommendations for new laws regulating the use of the water.

Assemblyman Beggs of Rice Lake, Barron co., fathered a joint resolution seeking to amend the constitution so it affects the terms of office of sheriffs, allowing them to serve three consecutive terms. At present a sheriff may serve one term and then must remain out of the race for that office for a term. The amendment would allow a six-year tenure.

Another joint resolution by Mr. Beggs asking amendment of the constitution would have the effect of allowing counties to keep half of the fines and other similar funds collected in their confines the other half would go to educational funds.

A bill by Assemblyman A. T. Smith of Vilas would increase the salary of the deputy commissioner of banking from $2,600 to $4,500.

The governor's salary, after this term, would be increased from $5,000 to $10,000 under the provisions of a joint resolution to amend the constitution presented by Assemblyman Peterson of Milwaukee.

Mr. Beggs introduced a bill compelling sleigh manufacturers to make and users of sleighs to use sleds on sufficient spread that their runners would conform to the tracks made by automobiles. It was previously explained that the difference between the width of sleigh trucks and the distance between automobile wheels cause considerable difficulty in making tracks through the snow covered roads of the northern part of the state and that the bill intended to make the sleigh runners conform to auto-

CLEAN LIVING WILL ADD TEN YEARS TO LIFE, SAYS DR. MAYO

Washington—(P)—Personal care in youth, not gland trans-planting, will add ten years to life, in the opinion of Dr. Charles H. Mayo, famous surgeon, who believes resort to the latter to find the proverbial fountain of early manhood is the "bunk."

Addressing a public health meeting Tuesday night under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons, the younger of the two noted Rochester brothers-surgeons, sounded a warning to the younger "jazz" generation and the "Admit to be 30" fast-steppers to go slow on drinking and "petting" if they want to become members of the Methuselah club.

The only way to grow old gracefully, Dr. Mayo said, is to live healthily while young. Two thirds of the old people of today, he explained, are old as an inheritance from clean-living parents.

MENTORS STAMP OUT GRAMMAR FAULTS

Teachers Concentrate Efforts to Correct Most Frequent Errors

Grammar tests to show what mistakes appear most frequently and need the most drill have been completed by the English teachers of the junior high schools and the results will be presented at a meeting with A. G. Osterhaus, principal of Roosevelt junior high school and chairman of the group, Thursday afternoon at Appleton high school. Similar tests will be given in the spring to indicate whether progress has been made.

A close correlation was shown in the results of the tests and the graded sections in the seventh and eighth grades in the Roosevelt school. The classes are divided into groups of close ability as far as the teachers are able to judge.

Another revelation at the school was in the Latin groups as opposed to the home and manual arts groups. Ninth grade students are divided into classes of those specializing in the practical arts and in the cultural. The Latin students ranked higher in the English tests. Other correlations and conclusions will be shown in McKinley and Wilson schools, it was believed.

Teachers will study the errors appearing with the greatest frequency and will concentrate on their correction rather than on those giving the least difficulty to the classes. The tests in the spring will show whether these efforts have accomplished their purpose. The first tests were diagnostic and remedial work will follow. A complete report will be compiled from the results from each school.

The tests were made and compiled by the teachers. No standard tests were employed.

E. G. Smith, Beloit, introduced a bill relating to real estate transfers.

PARENTS TELL HOW THEY AID TEACHERS

Cooperation of Home and School Theme of Parent-teachers Meeting

Cooperation between the home and the school was the subject of the meeting of parents and teachers of fifth and sixth grade pupils of the Lincoln school Tuesday evening at the school. Mrs. Kathleen Kimball and Mrs. Leila Mortimer were hostesses.

The principal speaker was Dr. Richard Thiel of the education department at Lawrence college, who outlined a broad program of cooperation for the home and school. "This address was supplemented by talks by parents," Mrs. Joseph Kottend, Jr. discussed Reading in the Home; Louis Fisher, The Newspaper in the Home and its bearing on the Education of Children; Mrs. Margaret Russell, visiting the Schools; Mrs. John Ross Frampton, How to Interest Children in Handwork; Mrs. R. A. Merrifield, A Contribution of the Work of Teachers; Mrs. Marie Ventur, A Comparison of the School System in Germany and America; Joseph Kottend, Jr., How to Make Citizens of Our Children. Mrs. Ventur lived in Germany until four years ago when she came to the United States. Talks were scheduled for Miss Carrie Morgan and Don J. Rohan, but lack of time prevented the addresses.

Mrs. W. H. Dean sang a solo and Prof. John Ross Frampton of Lawrence conservatory of music, gave several piano selections. About 30 parents were present.

WALLES HALTS HORSE
London—It has happened at last—the Prince of Wales has conquered a horse. During a recent hunt, the Prince, after a hot chase, captured a runaway which had thrown its rider, Capt. Alfred Loewenstein. Loewenstein recently won wide notice by his offer to stabilize the Belgian frame, and his habit of riding about over Europe in airplanes.

SULPHUR CLEARS SKIN RIGHT UP

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur. declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heat eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good drug-
